The old hotel property at Poolesville bought for the new national bank in that town has been razed and work begun on the foundation. It is expected the bank will be finished by fall.

Approaching this town on Tuesday last, the horse driven by Mr. J. Dawson Williams slid away from an automobile near the western limit, turned the vehicle on a short lock and crashed the wheel. Fortunately no other damage was done.

The Town Council of Glen Echo has fixed the tax rate for the year 1907-08 at 50 cents on the $100, being the same as that of last year. The taxable basis of the town is about $155,000. Bernard A. Duke has been appointed Town Clerk and Treasurer.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel B. Wetherald, of Sandy Spring, last week celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage by entertaining about one hundred and fifty of their friends from this county and elsewhere. Mr. and Mrs. Wetherald received many handsome presents.

At the annual meeting of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union of the Sandy Spring neighborhood, the following officers were elected: President, Mrs. F. D. Jackson; vice-president, Mrs. Emily T. Massey; secretary, Mrs. Lucy O. Barnes; treasurer, Mrs. F. M. Wetherald.

Suits for damages aggregating $110,000 for injuries received by John A. Kuno and his wife, Elizabeth C. Kuno, in the Terra Cotta wreck, December 30th, 1906, were filed Tuesday in the District of Columbia Supreme Court against the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company.

As we go to press, Sheriff Gott and Geo. E. White are in Washington to identify a negro arrested there answering to the description of the man who shot and robbed Souder, near Redland. Mr. White is supposed to have talked with the negro on the road before the shooting.

While running away last Friday afternoon a horse attached to a buggy owned and driven by Conway Rogers, of Ritchison, plunged through a plate glass window in the front of the store of Leopold Taylor, 9th and P streets northwest, Washington City, wrecking the window. The damage is estimated at about $200. No one was injured.

Miss Mabel Whitney was married Wednesday evening of last week at Woodside, the home of her father, Dr. Whitney, to Mr. Jarrett N. Shanks, of Forest Glen. Only a few intimate friends were present.

Mr. and Mrs. Shanks left for a short honeymoon trip. Mr. Shanks has been connected with the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad for 15 years. They will reside at Forest Glen.

Mr. Thomas C. Homiller and Messrs. Darby, of Seneca, are making every effort to locate copper in paying quantities on the Selby farm, near Sugarland, this county, and some very nice samples have been taken out. Last week a barrel of the best ore was shipped from Boyd's to the Copper Smelting Company, in Baltimore, for examination.

Mr. Homiller has had previous mining experience in the West.

Mr. Arthur W. Brown, of Brighton, and Miss Mary E. Casbell, of Sunshine, this county, were married on July 2nd at the home of the bride by Rev. J. H. Schlink, pastor of Mount Carmel M. E. Church. The ceremony was witnessed by a large gathering. A reception was held, after which the couple left for the Jamestown Exposition. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Casbell.

The annual camp meeting at Washington Grove began on Tuesday last and will continue for ten days. Rev. J. R. Sumwalt, of Washington, Presiding Elder of Washington District, will be in charge, and he will be assisted by ministers from Washington and other places. Rev. A. H. Zimmerman will again have charge of the young people's meetings. The camp will be followed by the annual session of the Washington Grove Chautauque.

Mrs. L. H. Gillis and daughter Viola have just returned from a month's visit to her daughter, Ebel, in Hamburg, and J. S. Gillis, Jr., in Warren, O. Their visit included a number of the large factories, as well as pleasure resorts, and altogether was enjoyable. Watching the manufacture of incandescent electric lamps, artificial ice and lanterns was very interesting and instructive, as was also the visit through the Heinz pickle factory, where they were served an appetizing lunch consisting of the "57" varieties.

There is a strong probability of no Rockville Fair this year. Judge Henderson, of the Circuit Court, will, it is understood, refuse to grant a license permitting pool-selling on the race, and it is said the present management have about decided that the Fair cannot be run successfully without this feature. President Lee Offutt has stated that if the license is refused he and other members of the board of directors will probably withdraw and allow others to take up the management. In view of the late date, this will mean no fair.

J. Arthur Kemp Absents Himself From Home—Embezzles $10,000 Of His Office Funds.

Mr. J. Arthur Kemp left his home, about one mile west of Rockville, on Wednesday morning of last week for his office in Washington City as was his daily custom, excepting that morning he left here on a car probably two hours earlier. He has not been seen by his family since. Whether he is dead or alive no one knows. Some surmise one and some the other. About seventeen years ago Mr. Kemp located in this county with his family upon the James Benson farm, which he purchased and then later purchased the old Charles Spates farm adjoining, making in all a tract of land of three hundred acres, which he improved and cultivated with much skill. He was an excellent neighbor and citizen, and his popular manners gained for him the respect and confidence of all whom he met. He left behind him a wife and a son, the latter of whom is now filling a government office at Washington, and his wife's aged father and mother, who are mourning his absence.

In his office at Washington, where he performed the duties of chief clerk and property clerk of the Metropolitan Police Department, he remained but a short time after reaching there. His unusual absence created a suspicion on the part of his superior officer, Major Sylvester. His book accounts were investigated at once and he was found to be a defaulter. He had been entrusted with several funds, which enabled him to embezzle a large sum of money. The latest total amount of embezzlement reported from him is $10,000. He had filled the position for twenty-five years, and was held in high esteem for his efficiency and honesty. The office paid a salary of $2,500.

On Saturday last, upon the part of many creditors of this county and Washington City, a large number of attachments were issued from the Court, for against him as an absconding debtor and placed in the sheriff's hands for execution. An appraisal of the property on the same day valued his entire holdings at $20,000.

His entire indebtedness is estimated to exceed the appraisement by several thousand dollars and to be $23,000, which includes several farm mortgages of $5,000.

The cause of his financial collapse is variously accounted for by the public. Some attribute it to speculation of several kinds and others to dissipation. Yet no definite cause has been assigned and as mysterious as his whereabouts.

Major Sylvester, Superintendent of Police, has sent to every free-delivery city and to the principal police stations in every large city in the United States, cards containing a picture and a minute description of Kemp. Copies have also been sent to cities in Mexico, South America, Canada and in Europe.

At headquarters the opinion is expressed that it will take a long search to locate Kemp, as his knowledge of police methods will probably enable him to elude detection. Kemp evidently had little money with him when he left, possibly less than $500, as if he had any considerable sum, it is believed, he would have met the payment of $850 due Mrs. Flynn, a policeman's widow, and deferred his departure or attempted to make up the shortage. It was Kemp's failure to keep an engagement with Mrs. Flynn and pay her money due her as insurance from the policemen's association that led to the first knowledge that the chief clerk was an embezzler. The investigation of his accounts developed the fact that peculation has been indulged in by Kemp for five or six years in the past.

At the instance of the attorneys of Mrs. Mary W. Kemp the two farms of her husband, J. A. Kemp, are advertised in this issue to be sold on the 6th of August next by the law firm of Bonie & Bonie, assignees.

Church Fire.—On Sunday night last a fire started in the Methodist Church of this town. After church services and the departure of the members of the congregation for their homes, the janitor attempted to extinguish the lights in the chandelier. From a stationary position he turned the chandelier to reach each light, thinking it revolved on the center piece, but the screw holding it to the ceiling was turning backward and finally lost its hold entirely. The chandelier fell to the floor with a crash. Instantly almost some one on the outside discovered the accident, rushed into the church and found the janitor dazed and faint. Alarm was given. In a few minutes a large crowd of persons arrived at the church to assist in putting out the fire. The town fire apparatus was quick to respond, but was not needed as the fire was extinguished by water carried in buckets before its arrival. Six pews were badly charred and a heavy aisle carpet impaired by the fire, rendering them useless for church purposes in the future. The dense smoke that arose from the chandelier, and the newly painted inside walls of the edifice. The loss is estimated at $400, and is covered by insurance.

It was remarked by a prominent member of the church after the fire that early in the night there was paid over a check for $100 to liquidate the last of a $4,000 indebtedness upon the church, which had been lately incurred by a thorough renovation of the building, and the congregation came very nearly having another to build.

Marshall Collins Resigns.—Marshall Collins, who for some time past has proved a terror to the automobilists who have journeyed out the Conduit Road at a high rate of speed, is officially no more. He last Sunday tendered his resignation as town marshal and deputy sheriff, and it took effect at once.

Collins explains that he has received an offer of an excellent position from his brother in Philadelphia, and that after several days of consideration he had decided to accept it. The mayor remonstrated, and asked him to reconsider his action, but the officer was obstinate, and the resignation was finally accepted, with a formal expression of appreciation from the executive head of Glen Echo.

The marshal has been relieved of his duty, but will not leave for Philadelphia for a month, as he is chief witness in a number of automobile cases pending before Mayor Garrett, which that official is anxious to conclude with credit to the municipality.

Mayor Garrett states that a successor to Marshall Collins will not be appointed until the next meeting of the town council, which will be held the third Thursday evening in July. He will, however, name a temporary marshal. Mayor Garrett states that automobilist need not be congratulating themselves over Collins' resignation. He says he will appoint in his stead a man who will be every bit as vigilant and determined as was the retiring officer, and that there will be no let-up in the efforts to enforce Glen Echo's laws.

A DOG TAX.

The County Commissioners Have The Power To Levy The Tax.

Also To Reimburse Sheep And Cattle Owners.

Mr. Editor:—I read in the last issue of the Sentinel a card from Mr. John H. Janney, secretary of a committee appointed by the Farmers' Convention of Montgomery County, stating that the farmers of the county are unanimously in favor of a dog tax, and calling the attention of candidates for the legislature to the public sentiment upon the subject. The proceedings of the Bethesda Citizens' Association, in the same issue of your paper, indicate that the people of that section are of the same opinion.

I venture to suggest, that if the sentiment of the county is as unanimous as the investigation made by the committee of the Farmers' Convention indicates, there is no occasion to make a political issue of the matter, or to consume any of the time of the legislature, as there is now upon the statute books ample law to meet the case in the most satisfactory manner.

The Code of Public General Laws of Maryland, Article 25, title "County Commissioners," Section 2, in defining the powers of County Commissioners, provides, among other things, that they shall also have power to levy a tax or license fee upon dogs and bitches owned, kept or harbored within their respective counties, and to provide for the enrollment of said dogs and bitches and the collection of the tax or license fee thereon; and out of the tax or license fee so collected, they may provide for reimbursing owners of sheep or cattle for losses sustained by the killing of sheep or cattle by dogs and bitches other than those owned, kept or harbored by the owner of said sheep or cattle.

It would be impossible for the legislature to give more adequate power in the premises, and there can be little doubt that if the proper evidence of the wishes of the farmers, and others, of the county were presented to the Commissioners, the relief sought would be promptly forthcoming.

It would seem to be entirely feasible to appoint committees in each election district to obtain signatures to petitions to the County Commissioners, and the result would be much more satisfactory and more speedy than anything that could be accomplished by a political campaign. Indeed, one of the purposes of the general law quoted above was to remove the subject from politics and place it where the local sentiment could control it promptly and efficiently.

The Commissioners, no doubt, would be glad to have the views and co-operation of the committee of the Farmers' Convention, and of citizens generally, in the formulation of a plan for the taxation of dogs and the reimbursing of owners of sheep and cattle for their losses. The details of such a plan are not difficult, and the initial expense could be defrayed from the specific tax without increasing the county rate.

A further advantage of this general law is that any defect in the plan, or any fault in the administration of it, can be quickly remedied by the County Commissioners, whereas a defect in a special law passed by the legislature would have to remain until the reassembling of that body, and it might be a defect which would render the law, for the time being, nugatory.

Everything considered, therefore, there is already ample law for the taxing of dogs, and the people of the county have only to besist themselves to get what they want without delay and without the necessity of a political contest with its uncertainties and its inevitable animosities.

Donation Party.—Recently a lively party of church folk left Germantown for Clarksburg laden with many good things which conduce to creature happiness in a paragon, for even preachers and their beloved are sustained on the same kind of fare which other mortals consume. The weather was warm, yet only the horses suffered, I think. The party was met by a gracious host and hostess, and after depositing the edibles upon the kitchen floor and table, all settled down to talk and general enjoyment.

One of the company furnished very delightful music with a Victor talking machine, rendering both humorous and pathetic. The guests were refreshed with most delicious cake and lemonade.

To the great surprise of the junior pastor of the Southern Methodist Church, who was presented with a beautiful summer laprobe. It was remarked by the senior pastor, Rev. F. F. Neel, who made the presentation speech, that the kind and thoughtful ladies of the sewing circle did not think the junior party would be in position to enjoy the bodily comforts bestowed on the senior pastor, and hence they would give him that which he could use. I think though the junior got a double gift, for he is often under the paragonous roof.

After much pleasure and an appropriate address of gratitude by Mr. Neel, the guests departed at a reasonable hour for their homes.

To The Democratic Voters Of Montgomery County.—I do not think it necessary in this card to review the beginning and progress of my candidacy for the nomination for Governor of Maryland by the Democratic party. I simply desire to acknowledge to my fellow citizens my appreciation of the cordial and flattering support they have given me. Nothing in all my political life has given me more pleasure than the assurances I have received from all sections of the county that my past career has been such as to justify their earnest desire that I attain to the exalted position of Governor of this State.

But, owing to recent occurrences in our county, and after mature reflection and consultation with many friends upon whose judgment I confidently rely, I have concluded to withdraw from the contest.

Base Ball.—On Saturday, July 13th, a game of base ball will be played at the Fair Grounds here between the Alexandria, Va., and the Rockville teams.

The Rockville base ball team was defeated in two games at Winchester, Va., by the home team on July 4th.

Kensington and Washington Grove base ball teams battled seven innings to a tie at Washington Grove last Saturday afternoon, the final score being 3 to 3. The game from start to finish was stubbornly contested, and it looked as though Washington Grove had won the game, when, in the seventh inning, G. Krome, the big first sacker of Kensington, connected with one of Zirkle's shots for a home run, tying the score. At this period the game was called, in order to allow the Kensington boys catch the train.

The Work In Our County Poor House.

As a resident of Montgomery County you are doubtless interested in the care given its poor, especially those in the County Poor House, so will care to know of the work being done in their behalf by the Rockville Union Bible Class.

Finding many of the common needs of life lacking there, the Bible Class gained the consent of the County Commissioners, the Trustees of the Poor and the Superintendent to place a woman there who would look after the comfort of the inmates and establish a family altar, the Class agreeing to pay the expenses.

We were fortunate to secure Miss Martha P. Spencer, who has had a large experience as a teacher in the State normal school of Kansas, also as Superintendent of the Girls Reformatory of Kansas. For nine years Miss Spencer was a Presbyterian Missionary among the mountaineers of the South.

To this humble work in our Poor House, Miss Spencer brings those years of study and rich experience, and the good she has accomplished in the three months she has been there fills our hearts with gratitude to God for sending us such an invaluable worker for Him.

A large family Bible has been presented to the Poor House by the American Bible Society and it is used in the daily family worship, while the lessons of Scripture texts are daily taught. Each inmate has received a large print copy of the Gospel of Luke from a lady at Randolph. A fine sewing machine has been donated, a white apron given to each woman and a new necktie to every man to wear on Sunday. We have hung pictures and Bible texts on the walls, put neat covers on the pine tables, planted four flower beds. We are teaching the women to make their own clothes and piece quilts, and several are greatly interested in sewing carpet bags.

We need needle, thread, pins, comfort bags for also men, a blacking brush and box of blacking, quilt pieces and carpet rag. Some easy chairs with arms would add greatly to the comfort of these aged and infirm people.

There are no county funds available to meet these expenses; it is and must remain purely a benevolent work, and the Bible Class of twelve members has assumed the responsibility of raising the amount, which is $25 a month.

For convenience, shares are offered at 50 cents a month or $5 a year. Will you not take an interest in this work? If you cannot take a whole share, get some one to take one with you. Tell your pastor and get him to lay this matter before his people.

A committee of three have immediate charge of the work, who will gladly give further information or will meet with any society to explain in more detail the great need at our own door. A religious service is held every Sabbath afternoon by the committee, which consists of Mrs. Henry J. Finley, Mrs. John B. Brewer and Mrs. Henry L. Wells.

Send all monies to Mrs. H. J. FINLEY, Rockville, Md.

Reward for Souder's Assassin.—The County Commissioners on Tuesday last offered a reward of $250 for information leading to the arrest of the person who shot and robbed Charles L. Souder, of Virginia, near Redland, this county, last week. It is believed that this will encourage activity on the part of the officers of this county and elsewhere.

Charles L. Souder, the young man who was robbed and shot with a revolver, near Redland, this county, on Wednesday afternoon of last week, continues to get better, and his physician, Dr. E. C. Ritchison, of Gathersburg, now thinks that he will recover. The ball of 32 caliber blazed the body under the right shoulder blade, passed straight on and was extracted from beneath the upper ribs, having missed all vital points of the internal organs. The two negro men suspected and arrested for the crime have been released. One of them was Frank Jackson, who lives near Redland, and the other was a strange negro by the name of William Barber, who was found sleeping in the barn of Mr. Hillary Offutt, near Montrose. The officials have no clue to work upon to effect a capture of the perpetrator who has made his escape, and as it is admitted, will probably remain unapprehended.

Attorney General Bonaparte gave the Secretary of War a legal opinion, on Wednesday last, that the functions Mayor Garrett exercises in the town of Glen Echo are unconstitutional and that the fines collected by him could be recovered back by the persons who paid them for violations of municipal laws. In this connection he also gave the opinion that the Maryland legislature has no control over the conduit road, and that the control of streets in Congress alone.
