Depends on the United States.

Philadelphia Record.

Lord Rothschild, the foremost banker of Europe, in speaking of the stock markets of the world, had this to say: "The financial situation here, not excluding consols, depends entirely upon the United States. This is acknowledged, though perhaps unconsciously, about the foreign offices of European governments have acknowledged by deed since the election of 1896, and the Spanish war of 1898. The departments of those governments having to do with affairs of state have accepted unreservedly the United States as a world power of government. Lord Rothschild, speaking for the banking interests of Europe, accepts the United States as a world power in finance. It was not so ten years ago. The biggest heart among us did not maintain that it was; nor were there many to predict then that we should grow as we have grown in the last seven years of a sound tariff system, a sound money system, and an expanding national policy."

"An interesting case of somnambulism is reported by M. Badier, director of the normal school at Blois, France. It is accredited by Dr. Dufay and printed in 'The Proceedings of the Society of Psychological Research.'"

Writes Dr. R. Osmond Mason, "Theophile Janicaud was a pupil at the normal school, and in the month of July of his second year he commenced to walk in his sleep. On one occasion he got up in the night determined to go fishing. His brother-in-law, M. Simonnet, decided to accompany him, but before starting he succeeded in inducing him to alter his plans and go and visit a relative instead."

"Accordingly this was done, Janicaud remaining fast asleep and undisturbed by the barking dogs or the fatigue of a long walk. Finally he was ready to return, and on the way, coming to a narrow and dangerous path close to the river, his brother-in-law cautioned him to go carefully in the darkness. Janicaud, with some alarm, declared that he could see the better of the two, and to prove it, he stepped on the match under his foot, and, sure enough, there was the match. It was a dark night, and besides, Janicaud was some thirty feet ahead of him and had his night-cap drawn closely over his face."

A Great Institution.

The presence in this city in the last few days of Mr. John Massey, President of the Alabama Conference Female College at Tuskegee, was a great pleasure to the friends of a model gentleman and teacher. The work of the college at Tuskegee under his management has been of continual growth in number of pupils and of advantages offered to them. It justly ranks among the very best institutions in this country.
