Steps are being taken for the organization of a base ball league among the high schools of this county. The principals of the high schools at Rockville, Gaithersburg, Kensington and Sandy Spring held a meeting recently to formulate plans, but were unable to agree, owing to the refusal of two of the representatives to confine the composition of their teams to bona fide students. D. A. R. Notes.

The regular monthly meeting of the Janet Montgomery D. A. R. Chapter was held on Tuesday, February 8th, at the home of Mrs. Ernest L. Bullard, Rockville. The business of the day was the election of delegate and alternates to the Continental Congress in April, at Continental Hall, Washington, D. C. The Registrar reported that the membership of the chapter had reached fifty, entitling the chapter to a delegate. Balloting resulted in the election of Mrs. Elden J. Hartshorn as a delegate, Mrs. Herbert Janorin Brown as first alternate to the Regent and Mrs. David H. Warfield as second alternate; Mrs. Charles Forrest Dickens first alternate to the delegate and Mrs. J. Harry Cunningham second alternate to the delegate.

The following new members were admitted to the society: Miss Genevieve Fields and Miss Lillian Fields, descendants of George Beckwith, volunteer in the company commanded by his cousin, Captain George Beckwith; Miss Marie Talbot, descended from Thomas Hyde, who from his private fortune fitted out a brigantine for the use of the Continental Navy.

Mrs. Bullard read an account of the organization of the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution, as compiled by Miss Eugenia Washington, one of its three founders.

The chapter passed resolutions of condolence, to be forwarded to Mrs. J. Harry Cunningham, on the death of her brother-in-law, Mr. John H. Freeman, one of the supervising principals of the public schools of Washington, D. C., and of one of his daughters, whose death occurred very shortly after the death of her father.

The corresponding secretary was requested by the chapter to send its congratulations to the vice-regent, Mrs. Harry Turner Newcomb, on the birth of twin daughters.

The next meeting of the chapter will be held on March 1st, at the club house, Miss Fields' home. Mrs. James D. Iglehart, of Baltimore, vice-regent of the Thomas Johnson Chapter, D. A. R., will be the guest of the Janet Montgomery and deliver an address on the proposed George Washington Memorial, of which work she is chairman for Maryland. Mrs. Iglehart is also one of the Board of Governors of the Colonial Dames of Maryland. Mrs. Matthew T. Scott, President General of the D. A. R., has signified her intention to be present. Mrs. Walter Wilmarth, of Washington, will sing.

Farmers' Convention.
The thirty-seventh annual convention of farmers of this county was held in Lyceum Hall, Sandy Spring, on Tuesday last, and was attended by the largest number of agriculturists of this and neighboring counties in the history of the organization.

Able papers were read by Allan Farquhar, Rust Canby, Edward P. Thomas, Dr. Francis Thomas and others. Mortimer O. Stabler was president and Samuel P. Thomas secretary. Resolutions were adopted indorsing the work of the State Board of Forestry and urging a larger appropriation for the board's use. A wood lot has been secured near Sandy Spring for practical demonstrations of the methods of forest conservation.

A series of resolutions was passed setting forth the manner in which the convention desires the State roads appropriation to be expended in Montgomery county. The report of the roads committee gave statistics showing that the macadam roads constructed by the county were less costly and more durable than were the so-called Shoemaker roads.

The question of farmers 20 miles from market being able to conduct trucking profitably was declared possible, only a small portion of the farm to be used for this purpose.

The effect of the high cost of living on the farmer was presented by Allan Farquhar, who said that while the farmer now received high prices the trusts levied tribute on what he had to buy, so the farmer was little benefited. Mr. Farquhar said the only hope of change to normal prices was through educating the consumers to vote independently and in their interest.

Capt. R. W. Silvester, of the Maryland Agricultural College, gave an interesting account of his visit to the far West and the manner of fruit growing there. Many ladies attended.

Chevy Chase Residents Divided On Incorporation.

Whether or not Chevy Chase, this county, will be incorporated into a town was not decided at a meeting held in the Chevy Chase Library last Saturday night, but the legislative delegation of this county will carry back to Annapolis a large roll of petitions bearing on at least three angles of the proposition. The delegation will also carry the memories of several very sharp speeches from gentlemen interested in the various phases of the subject.

As the matter stood at the adjournment there was a proposition to incorporate the more closely built-up sections of what is commonly called Chevy Chase, a proposition to make a special law, by which property would be assessed at uniform rate for each sixty-foot front lot, and a proposition to include Martin's addition to Chevy Chase in any scheme for incorporation.

Around these three general propositions a wordy war was fought. Toward the close of the meeting there seemed to be a chance for the incorporators and anti-incorporators to get together, although no specific plan for this was approached definitely. But the Martin's addition proposition received sparse encouragement from the backers of either of the two main questions.

Senator Blair Lee presided over the meeting, sitting with the others of the legislative delegation, who were A. J. Cummings, J. A. Henderson, James Duval and John A. Garrett. Delegate A. J. Cummings opened the meeting by presenting Senator Lee, who suggested a time limit for the speeches.

Incorporation was backed in the first speech by John W. Yerkes. He outlined his idea that now is the time to incorporate so that the town of Chevy Chase could make progress as it had in the past, and based his argument, in part, on the statement that the Chevy Chase Land Company, as he had been informed, was about to drop its policy of spending money on the upkeep of the streets, water and other public necessities of the section. In mentioning the subject of taxation, he said that the Chevy Chase Club had agreed that it would pay, in case of incorporation, $500 a year for ten years, in lieu of any other form of assessment.

He was answered first by C. C. Tucker, a leader of the anti-incorporators. He said there was no need for incorporation because all the public improvements would be cared for in the future as well as they had in the past. He added that there was no intimation that the land company would relinquish its policy in regard to spending money for public works.

His definite proposition was to make Chevy Chase a specially protected part of Montgomery county, to arrange for a special tax levy to be used by the county for the benefit of Chevy Chase, and pointed out that the social conditions of Chevy Chase made it quite possible to do without any municipal form of government.

Martin's subdivision got into the discussion at this point, Harry Martin being the advocate. Mr. Martin said that as all of Chevy Chase had been extremely dead until Martin's addition had moved in he believed that the incorporation should include that section. No mention had been made of that feature of the proposition by the previous speakers, but it was apparent that the incorporation management clearly takes no notice of Martin's subdivision.

"They want to exclude Martin's subdivision for reasons that are laughable," continued Mr. Martin, "but I want a forward Chevy Chase. I propose an amendment to the incorporation scheme that will include Martin's addition. It ought also to take in the club grounds and certain of the farm property around here for taxation purposes."

A gentleman living in Martin's addition arose thereupon and presented a petition which he said was signed by thirty residents of that addition, and which protested against incorporating Martin's addition. This gentleman said that Martin's addition did not want to be incorporated under any terms at all. Mr. Martin answered this gentleman and precipitated a discussion very distant to the issues which the legislative delegation had come to hear.

Senator Lee cleared the atmosphere with a few crisp words, and the meeting proceeded to the discussion of incorporation.

A motion to take a vote was followed by another motion to postpone a vote for ten days, to include women taxpayers as well as men, and the large representation of ladies cheered. Neither motion was acted upon. A petition was thereupon presented, purporting to be a majority representation of taxpayers and legal voters of the proposed town, opposing the incorporation. Another was presented purporting to represent a list of 105 voters and 57 taxpayers who are in favor of incorporation.

The petitions, canvassed for under different conditions, and at different times during the last fortnight, were not parallel in every particular, but Senator Lee suggested that the delegation be allowed to take them to Annapolis, together with the final proposition of all concerned.

It is understood that the next word on the subject will come from Annapolis.

Legislative Matters.

Delegate Jas. E. Duval has introduced a bill directing the County Commissioners for Montgomery county to issue bonds in the amount of $100,000 to raise funds for the erection of a high school building at Damascus. Mr. Duval, himself a teacher of experience, asserts there is urgent need of such an institution at Damascus, and expresses confidence that his bill will become a law.

To prevent an accumulation of work at the close of the session and to compel a clearance of the calendar each day, Mr. Henderson last Friday introduced an order providing that the Speaker shall not entertain a motion to adjourn until the business of the day has been entirely disposed of. The order was sent to the Committee on Rules. "To my mind," said Mr. Henderson, "there is no reason why the House should not wind up its business each day, without leaving anything over until the next, and thus permitting an amount of work to accumulate which may swamp us toward the close of the session. The plan will give ample opportunity for full discussion of all measures, both now and later, and will prevent bills of importance being either slurred over or put through with a rush." The order would also avert such hasty adjournments as that which developed the other day on an unfounded rumor that a former presiding officer had died.

The Maryland Senate has confirmed the appointments by Gov. Crothers of Charles J. Fox, Chief of the Bureau of Industrial Statistics and Information; Thomas J. Ewell, State Fire Marshal, and J. H. Wade and S. J. Twilley, Fish Commissioners.

Mr. Henderson has introduced in the House a bill to regulate the fares of the Washington and Rockville Railway Company in Montgomery county, which reads as follows:

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Maryland, That the Washington and Rockville Railway Company, a corporation operating an electric railway for about nine miles from the line of the District of Columbia to the west end of the town of Rockville, in Montgomery county, shall divide the line of its said railway into not exceeding three equal fare zones, and shall not charge passengers on its cars on said railway an amount exceeding five cents for each of said fare zones or part of a zone through which such a passenger may travel.

Sec. 2. And be it further enacted, That for any violation of the preceding section the said Washington and Rockville Railway Company shall be subject to a fine of twenty dollars for each violation thereof and the costs upon conviction by any Justice of the Peace of Montgomery county, one-half of said fine to go to the informer and the other half to be paid to the Treasurer of said county, and such fine may be collected by the Sheriff of said Montgomery county by seizure of any of the property of said railway company in said county and a sale thereof after ten days' notice.

Sec. 3. And be it further enacted, That service of a summons upon any conductor or motorman of said railway company shall be sufficient for the imposition of the aforesaid fine after trial and conviction in due course of law.

Sec. 4. And be it further enacted, That this Act shall take effect from the 1st day of May, in the year 1910.

Mr. Brooke Rejoins.

Mr. Editor:—In answer to the letter of Mr. M. B. Montgomery which appeared in your issue of last week, I wish to state that Mr. Montgomery misconstrues the meaning of my letter, to which he refers, or else he has not read it. I have not familiarized myself with the bill introduced in the U. S. Senate by Senator Gallinger. As this bill now stands (but which we trust will be amended, owing to the efforts of those familiar with it), there is no provision made for remunerating the farmer for any cattle that may be condemned in the first, last or any other test which may be made, and it was on this point that I joined forces with the prominent producers of Maryland and Virginia in an attempt to defeat the bill in its present form.

In your letter, Mr. Montgomery, you advise me to mark my "Milk from an untested herd of cattle; for sale," and see what it would bring. In reply I will say that twice during the past three years I have voluntarily gone to the expense of having my entire herd tuberculin tested and whatever animals reacted I disposed of within forty-eight hours thereafter. Yet, I would like to inform you, I have not received any more for the raw product from the tested cows than others received for milk that came from untested herds.

This bill as it is now framed can not hurt the large producer, for should his herd be tested and he loses ten or twelve head he is in a position to stand the loss and continue in business, but the small producer, that makes only from five to twenty gallons per day, is the man who will be forced out of business, and it was for this class that I interested myself. It is only reasonable to presume that the more small producers that are forced out of business the less milk there will be on the market, and the result will be that the large producer will command more for his milk than at present, which again shows that it was not for my own interest that I took the matter up.

You are mistaken, Mr. Montgomery, in your conclusion that the leading dairymen of Maryland and Virginia are trying to defeat a bill that will give the people of the District of Columbia pure milk. They are demanding that they receive the value of the cattle slaughtered.

Respectfully,
W. A. BROOKE.

Death of Mrs. Cassidy.

As we go to press, the sad intelligence is received of the death in a Boston hospital of Mrs. Mary Jane Cassidy, widow of the late Prof. Henry Cassidy, principal of the Forest Glen Seminary, who had been an invalid for some time. To this lady our county is much indebted for the part which she has taken in the founding and management of the above-named educational institution.

Before her marriage to Professor Cassidy she was teaching in the high school at Cincinnati. She had a clear comprehension of general subjects, a ready grasp of passing events, a quick ear to hear and eye to see that which would interest the ladies of the seminary, and an unusual facility and grace of expression that made her a favorite with all the pupils, among whom she was an example.

To the possession of a well-disciplined mind were added a breadth of information, a strength of intellect and a geniality of spirit that made her one of the most interesting of companions. Her conversation was at once entertaining and instructive, marked by sound common sense and a practical knowledge of affairs. On Mrs. Cassidy will be greatly missed by the members of the local club of ladies of which she was a member, and for which she was almost a charter member.

An Enjoyable Occasion.

The supper and entertainment given at the Rockville Baptist Church on the evening of St. Valentine's Day was a very successful and enjoyable affair. There was a large attendance, and the supper netted a profit of about one hundred dollars. The people of Rockville and vicinity, without regard to denominational alliance, were generous in their patronage, according to their laudable custom.

After the supper had been served a very pleasing concert was given in the Sunday School room, as per the following program:

Solo, Mr. Charles W. Prettyman; solo, Mr. Edward L. Greene; piano solo, Mr. William F. Prettyman; solo, Mr. Robert J. Whiteford; duet, violin and piano, Master Paul and Miss Eunice Lehman; solo, Miss Annabel Allnut; mandolin duet, Messrs. R. J. Whiteford and W. F. Prettyman; solo, Mr. Otho M. Linticum; male quartet, Messrs. C. W. Prettyman, W. F. Prettyman, R. J. Whiteford and R. C. Warfield.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the church, under whose auspices the supper and entertainment were given, has reason to be gratified at the flattering reward which followed their efforts, both in the matter of the pecuniary profit realized for the benefit of the church and the social excellence of the occasion.

Celebrated Her Ninetieth Birthday.

The ninetieth birthday of Mrs. Ann Lotteta McAttee, of Boyd's, was celebrated on Saturday last at her home. She is the widow of John S. McAttee, who died at 84, 20 years ago, and the mother of former County Commissioner Eugene A. McAttee. She is one of the most remarkable and lovable old characters in that section. There is seldom a day she does not arise at 7 o'clock and do her duties about the home with agility. She was born within a mile of Boyd's, and has lived within two miles of where she was born all of her years.

Mrs. McAttee was remembered by many friends, but one of her gifts was a handsome cake surrounded by 90 candles sent her by Mrs. Sara E. Boyd, who was assisted in baking by Mrs. James Boyd Maughlin. She comes of a well-known family of this county. She was formerly a Miss Umstead, a daughter of Jacob Umstead. Her husband was the son of Wm. Attee, who served in the War of 1812, whose grandfather served in the Revolutionary War.

Mrs. McAttee's living children are: Edward McAttee, of Texas; John S. McAttee, of Clearfield, Pa.; Eugene A. McAttee, of Germantown; Geo. and Theodore McAttee and Misses Fannie and Josephine McAttee.

A Happy Event.
On Saturday, February 5th, 1910, Miss Beulah C. Nicholson, daughter of Mrs. Baker Nicholson, and Mr. Samuel C. Jones, of Mr. and Mrs. William T. Jones, were united in marriage at St. Mary's Catholic Church, Barnesville. Immediately after the ceremony the bride couple left for Philadelphia, and returned home on the succeeding Wednesday. A large assemblage of invited friends met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William T. Jones on the following Sunday and were feasted at a most dainty and confectionery table in honor of the newly wedded couple.

The tables were very tastefully decorated with carnations and candles. All present enjoyed themselves very much. During the entertainment Mrs. Mary Jane Cassidy, a toast in honor of the newly wedded couple.

A Bill Held Up.

Senator Lee, of this county, on Tuesday last held up a bill to change the law regulating the writ of habeas corpus. If the official or other person who is ordered to produce a prisoner or any one in court fails to obey the order of court he is subject to summary punishment by the court he has disobeyed. The bill, which came up in the Senate, proposes to change this and instead of the summary punishment to make a suit for damages.

Senator Lee said the Maryland law on this great subject is venerable and perhaps the best in any land, and that it should not be tampered with or changed without the most careful consideration. A suit for damages against an impetuous person would, Senator Lee said, afford no redress. On motion of Senator Linticum the bill was postponed in order to afford an opportunity to study its meaning and intent.

Several improvements to Park street were discussed and acted upon. After adjournment refreshments were served. The next meeting will be held March 10th, at the residence of Mr. W. W. Richardson.

To My Friends and Patrons.
To persons contemplating the erection of granite monuments this spring before Decoration Day, I would suggest they put their orders in the near future. As all the workmen at the granite quarries have been on a strike for the past four months, and when it is settled, which they hope will be soon, there will be a great rush for Decoration work.

We have been in the marble and granite business here for the past thirty years, and samples of our work are in all the cemeteries in the county. We would be pleased to hear from our friends. A nice lot of mirror designs to select from. Montgomery County Marble and Granite Works, J. M. HEAGY, Proprietor, Rockville, Md.
