OPPOSED A GOFF RULING $100,000 TO BRIBE JUDGE.

Justice Fursman Refused to Admit Another Case.

Justice Fursman made a ruling in the Welch perjury case today which was directly opposite to one made by Recorder Goff in the Molinoux case.

Assistant District Attorney McIntyre tried to show by Miss Attale Wolf that Welch had submitted perjured testimony in a case he had for her against the Metropolitan Street Railway Company.

Justice Fursman would not let her testify. "No such testimony as this can be submitted in a criminal case. The two cases must be directly connected."

The ruling was taken as favorable to Molinoux, as Justice Fursman's court is higher than Recorder Goff's.

The trial of Ernest M. Welch, the lawyer accused of maintaining a school for perjurers, was continued before Justice Fursman in the criminal branch of the Supreme Court today.

Two self-confessed pupils of the school, Edward Collins and John J. Rink, testified against Welch yesterday.

It is alleged that Welch, representing the plaintiff in a suit brought by Jacob Laas against the Everard Brewing Company, paid Collins and Rink to testify falsely.

Collins testified today. "Welch offered me $500 to change my testimony in favor of his client. He schooled me in what to testify, and I did my work well."

"Was Rink at the scene of the accident?" asked Assistant District Attorney McIntyre.

"No," was the reply, "but Welch told me to swear I saw Rink there, and I did so."

Lawyer Palmer, for Welch, tried to prove that their testimony was truthful, claiming that the Everard people had got them to swear falsely in the present trial.

Justice Hunt, of Montana, Testifies in the Clark Case.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—In the Clark bribery case Justice Hunt, of Montana, today testified to four different conversations he had had with his family physician, Dr. William Tracey, of Helena, in two of which he believed the doctor had attempted to lay before him a proposition to bribe him in the Wellcome disbursement case, which at that time was before his court.

"When I went to his office," said the witness, "Dr. Tracey invited me to a back room and said: 'I have a funny kind of a proposition which has come up for you.'"

The doctor then went on to tell him, according to Justice Hunt's statement, that he (the doctor) was taking an interest in the Wellcome case and that there was a party who had $100,000 to put up if the case was thrown out of court.

Mr. Faulkner on behalf of Senator Clark made a motion to strike the testimony of Justice Hunt out of the record because it had failed to connect the name of Mr. Clark with the proceeding and was entirely collateral.

The motion was overruled and the cross-examination proceeded. Justice Hunt said that before Dr. Tracey had made the proposition to him he had considered him as a man of pre-eminently good character. He did not believe the doctor had stopped to think of the enormity of the proposition and he still regarded him as a good man.

Asked why he did not bring the matter to the attention of the public prosecutor, Justice Hunt replied that he was so humiliated he did not care to disclose it; he preferred not to.

Q. You preferred to allow the attempt to perpetrate such a crime go unpunished. A. It would have been embarrassing to me as a judge.

Q. It was a contempt of court? A. I did not take notice of it.

CAUGHT IN A WHIRLWIND. Ship Challenger Landed in Today Showing Evidence of Fierce Sea Toss.

With broken masts and makeshift rigging the American ship Challenger reached this port today after a stormy passage from Hong Kong. She weighed anchor Oct. 18.

All went well until Dec. 12 when, nearing the Strait of Gibraltar, a terrible whirlwind almost swamped her.

When she arrived in this morning her foremast, foretopmast and mainmast and foremast were gone. A jury topmast and bowsprit had been rigged up by the carpenter.

TRAGIC DEATH IN CLUBHOUSE.
Broker Oltman Falls Down Flight of Marble Stairs at N. Y. Athletic Club.

John B. Oltman, a broker, member of the Stock Exchange, with an office at 20 Broad street, fell the whole flight of marble stairs from the second floor to the office at the New York Athletic Club, Fifty-ninth street and Sixth avenue at 1 o'clock this morning and was dead before medical assistance could be procured.

Mr. Oltman had been dining at the club with several friends, among whom were Great Good and Harry Miner, Jr.

After the dinner Mr. Oltman left the room with Mr. Good to go downstairs. As he was about to take the first step at the head of the stairs, Mr. Oltman said: "I feel awfully dizzy, Good."

The next moment he pitched forward, head first.

Frank J. Carter, the register of the club, and Mr. Prittington, a guest, stood at the foot of the stairway when Mr. Oltman came bounding down, his head thumping the marble steps repeatedly, leaving a wide trail of blood.

They carried him to a side room unconscious and sent messengers for a doctor. A call was also sent to Roosevelt Hospital for an ambulance.

Many members of the club are physicians and some of them are usually around every evening. But there was not one on hand.

Dr. O'Duillan, of 24 West Fifty-ninth street, and Dr. Clark, an ambulance surgeon, arrived within half an hour after the accident. Mr. Oltman died just as they reached his side.

He was a widower. He leaves two sons, who are also brokers.

At the clubhouse information was refused and the police learned of the tragedy only by chance.

Policeman Charles McDonald saw the ambulance in front of the clubhouse and insisted upon knowing what was the matter.

Sergeant Jesser, of the East Fifty-first street station house, notified the Coroner.

EPPE'S COCOA
A BABY'S FOOD.

DEAR MR. COOK: When I first began to give my baby Cook's Flaked Rice she was very sick, and her stomach very weak, so I started giving her your food, very weak at first. I put one of Cook's Flaked Rice in a cup of boiling water and cooked five minutes. As she grew stronger I increased the Flaked Rice till now I put two cups of Flaked Rice in two quarts of slightly salted boiling water, and I do not strain it, as she likes it about as thick as cream. I cannot say too much in favor of Cook's Flaked Rice as a perfect food for babies. Yours truly, MRS. V. ASH, 24 Portland St., Cambridge, Mass.

Letters like this are being received daily from grateful mothers. Cook's Flaked Rice is not only the best food for baby but for every member of the family. It's delicious as a breakfast porridge (without cooking). Make a rice pudding far superior to ordinary rice. Your grocer sells Cook's Flaked Rice.

NEEDLE IN HER HEART.
Mysterious Murder of a Phoenix, Va., Woman in Bed Beside Her Husband.

(Special to The Evening World.) NORFOLK, Va., Feb. 15.—Another mysterious murder of a woman has occurred at the notorious town of Phoenix, near Fort Monroe, the scene of so many bloody riots during and after the Spanish war.

The latest victim is Mrs. William J. Garland, wife of a rich saloon-keeper. She was found dead in bed beside her husband.

A small wound, hardly visible to the naked eye, below the left breast told where a delicate darning-needle had entered and pierced the heart, causing instant death.

The husband reported the crime and was placed under arrest charged with the murder. He asserts his innocence. Garland, it is stated, had some enemies. It is not known whether he recently quarrelled with his wife. They were known to have been living peacefully.

The murder of Mrs. Garland was, it appears, a scientific man, since it developed the same job of the needle hit the vital spot and caused death.

RECEIVED IN BARE FEET.
Eccentric Mrs. Johnson, Who Left Fortunes to Churches, Had Quaint Fads.

Hugh Nesbit, administrator under the will of Mary Johnson, in the Supreme Court today told of Mrs. Johnson's eccentricities.

Once, when three priests called on her, Mrs. Johnson came into the parlor in her bare feet. She told Nesbit that she was "not getting anything from the visitors, but was giving up to them."

Mrs. Johnson also said she didn't like Father Power, of All Saints' Church, but had to do whatever he said. It was because of her religious fanaticism that she had left her fortune to religious institutions. Her relatives are contesting the will.

It's a Mistake If She Don't.
Who does not admire the lovely tint of health in a woman's face, the unmistakable evidence of strong nerves and pure blood? How much less frequently are such faces seen than those that indicate worry, weakness and disease.
