CONCERT TO AID CONSUMPTIVES

Jewish Beneficial Association Arranges Brilliant Program

NEXT WEDNESDAY IN GARRICK THEATRE

A musical will be given in the Garrick theatre next Wednesday night by the Delaware Jewish Beneficial Association to raise funds for restoration of the buildings of the Jewish Consumptive Relief Society of Denver, recently destroyed by fire, and to aid consumptives at Hope Farm here in Delaware. Proceeds from the concert will be divided equally between the two institutions.

At a meeting held last Sunday evening in Y. M. H. A. hall, 3rd and King streets, at which David Snellenburg presided, Dr. Charles Keane and Dr. Albert Rohr gave instructive talks on prevention of tuberculosis and need of sanitoria to help wipe out the white plague. Cantor Louis Yasin, tenor of Manhattan Opera Co., who is to sing at the concert, gave an appealing memorial recital. Within a few minutes $300 was raised for the cause, even small children giving their pennies.

The program for the concert follows:

Valse, Nocturne and Polonaise, A Flat, Chopin; Louis Kezze, pianist; La Colomba, Puccini; Pleurez mes Yeux (Opera Le Cid), Massenet; Mme. Elizabeth Sherman-Soloff, soprano; Celesta Aida, G. Verdi; Arioso (Vesti la Giubba), Leon Cavallo; Cantor Louis Yasin, tenor, Manhattan Opera Company.

BLAMES CITY FOR FROG NUISANCE

Prudency on the side of the Board of Health allied with the co-operation of stricken families in adhering to quarantine regulations brought a check to scarlet fever, which threatened the city with an epidemic in the past few days.

This report was made by the health officers, detailed in the stricken districts, at the weekly meeting of the Board yesterday afternoon. Two new cases of the disease were reported in the Eleventh Ward, but many more patients recovered. The educational propaganda launched by the Board in the Eleventh Ward, evidently brought favorable results.

Owing to the prevalence of the disease in the Eleventh ward, the swimming pool at Delamore Park which was to have been opened yesterday, was kept closed.

Nocturnal concerts of frogs in a pond on the property at Twenty-ninth and Tatnall streets, brought numerous complaints from neighbors. The owner was summoned and refused to take action to avert the nuisance, contending that the city cut him off from drainage and is therefore responsible for the situation. The board will ask for advice from City Solicitor Huxley before taking action.

Immediate steps will be taken by the board to remove a nuisance, in accordance with a complaint received, protesting against an odor emanating from garbage along the road leading to the Delaware Pulp Mills.

Meat Inspector Lutz reported that he had condemned and destroyed sixty pounds of spoiled meat.

LITTLE SUPPORT FOR CHAUTAUQUA

It is likely that this may be the last year that the Wilmington Chautauqua Association will be able to produce its usual June entertainment. With the best program arranged for this year of any in its history, season tickets which meet the expenses of the week's program have sold so slowly that the local guarantors are fearful that the deficit that usually occurs will be so large that the executive committee of the association may decide not to arrange for any more chautauquas.

"Whether we have the Chautauqua another year depends on how many season tickets are sold by tomorrow night," said Benjamin K. Smedley this morning. "We get nothing from the single tickets sold during the week and have to depend entirely on the season tickets which must be sold by the first day of the week, which this year means Thursday. I know that the guarantors do not feel like contributing large amounts to make up a deficit, and if there is not enough money at hand tomorrow night to nearly meet expenses, there are many who will agree to drop the yearly June entertainment, believing that the people do not want it."

Charged with assault and battery on Thomas Leonard, who was found wandering about the streets on May 8 with a fractured skull, Euthos Frank, keeper of a restaurant at the southeast corner of Second and Union streets, was arrested this afternoon.

Leonard was released yesterday from the Physicians' and Surgeons' Hospital.

At the time Leonard was found wandering in the streets, he was sent to his home at 420 North Scott street. Later Dr. L. Lewis Chipman had him sent to the hospital. Leonard's skull was found to be fractured and he was in a serious condition for ten days. When he recovered sufficiently to talk, Leonard declared Frank had attacked and beaten him.

NURSES HONOR FIRST NURSE

The entertainment given last night by the nurses of the Delaware Hospital at the New Century Club in celebration of the centenary of Florence Nightingale, proved most delightful. The affair was in the form of living pictures which were extremely effective.

Every scene of the tableau was ably presented by the nurses, the various episodes of the "angel of the battlefield's" life being portrayed with artistic reality.

The tableau was in charge of Miss Caroline Sparrow, superintendent of the hospital. Mrs. Frank S. Garrett assisted by Miss Louise Lea and Miss Mary Curtis, were in charge of costuming and the scenic effects.

Miss Isabel B. Wales was in charge of the music. Solos were sung by Miss Wales. Mrs. Arthur McGeorge gave violin solos and Miss Mabel Haley was the pianiste.

The entertainment showed nine scenes, picturing Miss Nightingale's life.

Following the entertainment the nurses and guests enjoyed dancing.

COCA-COLA LITIGATION ON.

A bill in equity was filed in United States District Court this morning by the Coca-Cola Bottling Company, of Chattanooga, Tennessee; corporation against the Coca-Cola Company, Delaware corporation, whose principal offices are in Wilmington, asking that a temporary injunction be issued enjoining and restraining the defendant from violating terms of a contract heid by the plantiff for the furnishing of coca-cola; furnishing cocacola to other persons for bottling purposes in territory covered by said contract, and from assigning and transferring any right in the trade mark "coca-cola."

Judge Morris fixed June 9, at 9 o'clock for hearing and a restraining order issued until that date.

NO HOPE FOR RATIFICATION

how the governor could be consistent and approve it with the cumulative voting amendment. Senator Allee evidently took that to mean the governor would veto the measure, although Senator Long stated he did not speak with authority of the governor. Several Senators stated they would not attend such a conference, even should Senator Allee call it.

There was a persistent rumor all morning that an attempt would be made to extend the session ten days to make the Governor sign or return the School Code amendments, but the suggestion is receiving little support. Opponents of the code say they would like to see the session extended to be in shape to pass the bill over the Governor's veto should he disapprove it. The fact, however, that not enough votes could be mustered to carry out such a plan even should the Governor veto the mesure deters most members from taking any stock in it.

Anti suffragists had not changed their plans up until noon of allowing the suffrage ratification amendment to die in committee. Every effort is being made to force it out for a vote on the floor, but "anti" leaders in the House only smile and say "nothing doing." "When the two houses adjourn this afternoon sine die, which they will undoubtedly do, the suffrage resolution will expire at the same time in the House committee of the whole, a leading "anti" House member stated this morning.

"We waited more than three weeks for the Senate to send the resolution over but they refused," he said. "We were ready all of that time to vote and kill it and now that we have it safely stowed away we are not going to allow a few women to scare us into calling it up for a vote simply to please them."

Some of the Suffragist workers who came to Dover today to make a final pica for ratification, are Miss Mabel Vernon, national secretary of the Women's Party; Miss Catherine Flanagan, organizer for the Women's Party; Mrs. R. L. Holliday, of Dover; Miss Betsy Edwards, field secretary for the women's section of the Republican National Committee; Mrs. A. D. Warner, Mrs. John W. Brassington, Mrs. F. E. Bach and Mrs. W. E. Brown, of Wilmington.

It was reported that Republican County Chairman Patterson, of New Castle county, had sent out letters to prominent Republicans, asking them to come to Dover today to urge Republican members of the House to vote for ratification.

Up until noon few persons outside of the members appeared in the legislative halls. Former Senator Darlington Flinn was among the visitors.

Robert W. Kramer, president of the Central Labor Union, of Wilmington, and John C. Saylor, representatives of organized labor, also came to Dover to make another appeal especially to the members from Wilmington, to vote for ratification. Resolutions adopted by the Central Labor Union urging ratification, were presented to the members.

TO ACT ON CLAIMS BILL LATE TODAY

Staff Correspondent.

DOVER, Del., June 2.—J. Clifford Willis, Edward L. Richards and Jonathan Johnson, of Newark, were before the claims committee this morning, relative to money due them for work done on Company E armory several years ago. These men furnished material and labor for the structure and claim that the contractor, after getting all the money due him from the State, failed to pay them. It is also claimed that the contractor was not made to furnish the proper surety by State officials, which made it impossible for them to get their money. The total amount is about $1,000.

The appropriations and claims bills had not been presented up to 2 o'clock. It is said the special session of the Legislature will cost more than $40,000.

Governor Townsend gave no intimation of his attitude regarding the School Code amendments.

SUFFRARISTS WILL PICKET AT CHICAGO

Special to The Evening Journal.

WASHINGTON, June 2.—Alice Paul, chairman of the National Woman's Party, left for Chicago last night to take personal charge of the suffrage attack on the Republican convention.

Hundreds of suffragists will go to Chicago to protest against the delay of ratification. Five hundred banners are being shipped by the National Woman's Party to Chicago.

The "How long must women wait for liberty" banner, which was held at the gates of the White House during 1917 and 1918, will appear before the doors of the Republican convention in Chicago.

Miss Mabel Vernon, Miss Katherine Flanagan, Miss Mary Dubrow and other suffrage workers now at the Delaware Legislature will be transferred to Chicago, it is expected.

GEN. DUPONT WINS AID FOR SUFFRAGE

CHICAGO, June 2.—Gen. T. Coleman duPont, of Delaware, made a strong bid yesterday for the honor of putting over the federal amendment granting suffrage to the 28,000,000 women in the United States. The national committeeman from Delaware stepped up during a dull moment at the national committee's sessions and in short order obtained unanimous approval of a resolution urging the all important thirty-sixth ratification.

There was only one untoward incident about the duPont suffrage resolution. He called it the eighteenth amendment. Republican leaders in their anxiety to approve the proposal never stopped to count the various amendments. It was discovered by some officious newspaperman that the eighteenth amendment related to prohibition, not woman suffrage. It was a mathematical, not a liquid, error, Mr. duPont said. His resolution read:

"Resolved by the Republican National Committee, That the nineteenth constitutional amendment be and the same is hereby again indorsed by this committee, and such Republican States as have not already done so are now urged to take such action by their governors and their Legislatures as will assure the ratification of such amendment and establish the right of equal suffrage at the earliest possible time."

The Want Ads will help those wishing to purchase or sell homes, farms or real estate.

MAKING COUNTY SCHOOL BUDGET

Report Will be Submitted to Levy Court on Next Tuesday

SUPERINTENDENT MEETS TEACHERS

The budget of expenditures for the coming school year of New Castle county, will be presented to the Levy Court next Tuesday.

At a meeting of the County Board of Education, in the Public Building yesterday afternoon, work on the appropriations which will be asked was taken up and will be continued throughout the week. A special meeting of the board will be held next Monday, when the budget will be finally considered.

County Superintendent Wilbur H. Jump was given authority to select teachers, within certain limitations, for next year. He was at the board's office today to interview teachers from the northern part of the county and will be at his home in Middletown late this afternoon and tonight to meet teachers from the southern section.

The board informally discussed the coming school election, June 19. The polls will be open between the hours of 2 and 4 p. m., standard time. The county board will be elected by the rural residents outside of the several special districts in the county. Male residents, qualified to vote in general elections and women who have paid taxes are entitled to vote. An entire new board will be elected for a term of three years, begi ning July 1.

Three members to the board of trustees of each school attendance district also will be elected one for one year, or until the first day of July, 1921, and one for each of the two succeeding years, 1922 and 1923. Thereafter, the law provides, one member shall be elected in the school election in each school attendance district for the school term of three years. Nominations for members of the boards of trustees in the respective districts may be made on the day of election without petition.

On the Thursday succeeding the election, the State Board of Education will meet at Dover to canvass the results of the elections in the respective counties of the State.

AMERICAN LEGION CIRCUS ON PARADE

A parade was held at noon today in the centre of the city by the American Legion Circus, which is showing this week at Twenty-ninth and Market streets for the benefit of the Legion Home Fund.

It was a short but picturesque and gaily caparisoned procession. Headed by a portion of the band, the line was composed of several motor cars containing acrobats and gymnasts and a clown orchestra. Coronati's charioteers, Hunt's Wild West aggregation, with Chief Strongheart; the Hercum family of equestrians; "Gus," the clown and his trained mule, and, finally, the Powers' elephant troupe. It was intended to have Adgie's performing lions in the parade, but it was feared it might make the beasts too dangerous for handling by their mistress at the performance this afternoon.

As Jennie, one of the elephant troupe, passed the duPont building, she cast longing glances toward the Public Building, in front of which she danced the "shimmie" during the community sing last Saturday evening.

LA BELLE BOY IS IN BUFFALO PARENTS TOLD

Valentine had demanded payment of $200 from him two weeks ago.

"Two weeks ago in Atlantic City I got a long distance call from Valentine while I was in Atlantic City," said La Belle. "He demanded $200 from me. I told him I didn't know him, didn't owe him any money and wouldn't pay it."

"Very well," he said. "I'm going to get it." I told him to go ahead and sue. I only saw the man once in my life, and never had any business dealings with him. My wife assures me she has had no dealings with him, either and I am at a loss to account for his demands.

Mrs. La Belle yesterday said Valentine was "a friend of the family," but La Belle today said he never saw the man but once.

Valentine made no demand for ransom or money in his letter received today by the La Belles' they said.

HAROLD LOSES SUIT.

Suit was brought by Frank M. Harold against the duPont Engineering Company before Magistrate Stradley this morning, for a claim of $76.76, alleged to be due the plaintiff on a board bill contracted by the plaintiff while in the employ of the duPont Company as a guard at the Old Hickory Plant, in Tennessee, in February, 1919.

The magistrate dismissed the case upon the presentation of a release, signed by the plaintiff, showing that in the month of June, 1919, he had accepted $1,250 in settlement of all claims, including damages which grew out of his being shot while in the employ of the company.

John F. Lynn represented the plaintiff and G. Dare Hopkins the defendants.

An unidentified man, who attempted last night to purchase a watch at the store of Harry Pogach, 116 Market street, with a worthless check, disappeared when the proprietor called Police Patrolman Charles Morrow. The check was for $38, drawn on the Farmers' Bank and purported to be signed by the Pusey & Jones Company.

Mrs. Pogach waited on the man, who spent some time looking over watches. Selecting one he presented the check. The woman's suspicions were aroused at the appearance of the check and called the officer.

SENATOR GETS LETTER THREAT

I heard of this I made an investigation. At first I paid little attention to the matter but some days later was informed by a friend that he had heard through a young Negress who was a servant in his house that Hazzard had bought gun shells and borrowed a gun to carry out his threats. He claimed that he had been ordered by the Lord to kill the postmaster, cahier and myself.

"This caused me some concern and I had him arrested. I did not know Augustus, who is about 23 years of age, and who had been in New York for some years. Dr. Rowland G. Paynter, of Georgetown, examined him and as result of that examination he was committed to Farnhurst. Some time later I heard he was out but thought probably he had been cured and released.

"Last Wednesday I received the threatening letter. It was marked 'important' on the envelope. I was in Georgetown when it arrived at the house and my wife, thinking that if it was something that needed immediate attention she would telephone me, opened the letter. The writer not only abused me, claiming I had done him an injustice, but also threatened to kill me and the members of my family. My wife was naturally greatly worried. While it was signed U. S. Grant, I am sure it was written by Hazzard. He gave his address in New York and said he was empowered by the White House and Congress to carry out his threats. I took the letter to his mother and asked her if the address given was where her son was staying in New York. She said it was the address of his brother.

"I brought the letter to Dover with me and turned it over to Deputy Attorney General P. Warren Green, who informs me that he gave it to Postmaster English, of Wilmington. I am informed that the Federal authorities went to work at once on the case, but I cannot understand why I have received no report of his arrest, as the address where he no doubt can be found was given in the letter.

"I called Dr. Hancker about the Negro, and he said he was released because he did not think it right for him to be a charge on Delaware when his residence is in New York. He has promised to have him apprehended and recommitted should he ever return to Delaware."

JOHNSON NOT AFTER V. P. AS LOWDEN MATE

Penrose is expected to point the way to some solution of the tangle over the party nominee.

Penrose may or may not come to Chicago finally, but in all events he will be in direct touch by wire with his lieutenants here and is expected to speak out soon with his recommendation for the national ticket. His spokesmen in Chicago meantime are working in an effort to effect an understanding whereby Senator Johnson will get behind Senator Knox for the nomination if Johnson cannot win.

Penrose has at least two cards up his sleeve—Knox and Governor Sproul. He has declared that if the convention were to nominate a man of the Lowden type "it might as well name Sproul." He has added, however, that Knox would be the man best fitted for the office.

It appears likely therefore that Penrose, when and if Johnson and Wood are eliminated from possible nomination, will enter Knox or Sproul, or possibly both before he gives his support to Lowden.

Confronted with the doubtful record of having disposed of only three of the 15 contested delegations in two days' hearings, the committee today launched upon a program designed to clean up the remainder of the disputes in short order.

At the suggestion of Chairman Hays, the committee will begin holding night sessions and an effort will be made to bunch the various contests in each State whenever possible. The policy of holding open sessions has resulted in the contests being decided upon judicial grounds rather than political expediency, but at the same time it has also had the effect of dragging out the hearings to an unlooked for length.

So far but 10 of the 122 delegates affected by the contests have been placed on the temporary roll of the convention. Of these Lowden won seven from Arkansas and one from Alabama, the first day, while Wood benefited by two from the District of Columbia yesterday.
