MR. CONARD DECLINES; DR. HENRY SELECTED BY LOCAL DELEGATES.

City Delegates to Republican Convention Met Last Night--Mr. Conard's Letter Declining the Nomination was Read and Dr. F. C. Henry's Name was Chosen--Committee Waited upon Him and He has Agreed to Run.

Harry Conard has declined to accept the assembly nomination on the Republican ticket. He reached this decision several days ago, but not until his letter declining the honor reached the committeemen, was his action made public. As a result the Republican county delegates from this city met in the office of the Bishop Company, Scherer Building, last night, to select a man to name in his place. Dr. F. C. Henry was chosen and his name will be presented to the committee appointed to fill vacancies. It is probable that he will receive the nomination.

After the meeting was called last night Mr. Conard's letter was read and his decision not to run was accepted with much regret. The uncertainty which has hung about the acceptance of Mr. Conard, had the delegates fully prepared in case he should not run, and when his letter was read last night, the name of Dr. Henry was proposed at once. A committee consisting of Ira B. Tice, Richard A. Peltier and Harry O. Bishop was appointed to wait upon Dr. Henry to ascertain his willingness to accept. The committee was apparently satisfied with the interview for it was then decided to present Dr. Henry's name to the committee to fill vacancies. It has been understood that should Mr. Conard resign, the local delegates could select his successor.

When Mr. Conard was seen by a News reporter, in his office in the First National Bank, he explained his reasons for not running.

"The letter containing my resignation was mailed Thursday night. In the letter I stated my reasons for not wanting to remain on the ticket. In the first place, which is my principal reason, I do not think the bank should be drawn into politics, and my other reason is, if I should become the candidate for assembly I could not give the time to both that and my position in the bank. I do not feel that I can afford to resign my position in the bank, and try to handle both and be successful is practically out of the question."

Dr. Henry told a News reporter that if the nomination was offered to him, he would accept it. He said that the committee had waited on him last night and told him of their desire to suggest his name to fill the vacancy. He said the local delegates could only recommend and the nomination must come from the committee to fill vacancies.

In conversation with the reporter H. O. Bishop, one of the committee, said:

"We were very sorry to hear that

CLAMBAKE PROCEEDS.

Committee Reported and Amount was Turned Over to the Committee--McClellan Hose Carriage Being Put in First Class Order for the Event--Provide for Visitors in Allentown.

At the meeting of the Allentown parade committee, composed of the members of the different hose companies in this city, held last night at the Lincoln's Headquarters on State street, the clambake committee reported that they had cleared about $80. This was turned over to the Allentown Parade committee to help defray the expense of the trip to Allentown and return.

Everything in regards to the special train is now fixed and the boys and their friends will leave Perth Amboy at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. The hose carriage of McClellan Hose Company, which the firemen are to take with them, has been put in first class order and is now being painted.

The fire laddies hope to get at least one prize for all their pains and trouble. It was decided last night that all the firemen and friends who want to get hotel accommodations for the trip without any trouble, can do so by depositing the sum of $1.50 with any of the committee or with William Hartman, Sr., who is the treasurer. This sum will entitle the depositor to a room, breakfast and dinner.

The local firemen have secured the services of the Lehigh Brass Band, which is said to be one of the finest bands in Pennsylvania. After the parade in Allentown on Thursday, fire drills and other feats by the firemen will be given, and the event that will attract the most attention will be when all of the brass bands and drum corps will march into the Allentown Park and will play three selections together. A dinner will be served to all visiting friends in the Allentown park.

The Grand Jury, yesterday, took up the consideration of the case of Frank Majic, charged with the killing of Andrew Rusko, at Perth Amboy, last August, in a quarrel over a game of pool. It is claimed that he struck Majic over the head with a billiard cue and that the blow ended his life. Several witnesses have been summoned on this case.

ARTESIAN WELL RUINED BY CHILDREN.

Boys Drop Stones and Pieces of Iron Down the Pipe to Hear the Splash.

A SERIOUS PROBLEM.

Effort Made to Clean the Pipe but it is Found to Do so is as Expensive as to Drive Another Well--Place is now Carefully Guarded to Prevent Further Mischief.

One of the eight-inch artesian wells, which has recently been driven at Plant No. 3 of the Roessler-Hasslach Chemical company, has been ruined by children. While the men have been away the cap has been taken off and the well partly filled with brick bats. An effort has been made to get them out, but is now thought that the well is ruined and another will have to be driven.

The new plant being built at Mechanic street and Buckingham avenue will consume much water and for this reason two eight-inch artesian wells were driven, one to supply plant No. 2, already erected, and one to supply No. 3, in the course of erection. One was not to be used for some time so it remained just as the driver had finished it, an iron pipe opening into a concrete basin. It was not deemed unsafe to leave it thus unguarded.

As it was open at the top, children of the neighborhood, wandering around the premises after work for the day was finished, discovered the little round hole and some of them conceived the idea that a stone would make a nice rattling in the pipe and end up with a beautiful splash. He experimented and his supposition was correct. Wishing to share his fun he communicated his discovery to the others.

The result, more stones, bricks, pieces of iron, nails and other articles handy and of the right size went down that gaping hole until just as they were about to stop it became evident it was being filled up. A few more stones and it was. Now the problem of lifting out the obstructions in the pipe is engaging the attention of those in charge. A new well may be driven, for the expense of cleaning the other will almost equal its first cost. No way of obtaining the offenders being found, no one was punished, but at present the grounds are closed and to obtain access in the day is extremely difficult and after dark more difficult still.

Mrs. John Takac, who lives in North Amboy, near the Woodbridge junction, was attacked in the woods between her home and this city this morning while on her way to work in the local cigar factory. The assailant is said to be her husband and the police arrested him this morning. The woman was slashed in the face twice with a knife. She was carried to her home where she lies in a delirious condition. A telephone message from the railroad tower summoned the police to the scene.

The woman, it is said, does not live with her husband. She started to work about 6 o'clock this morning and was met in a lonely place in the woods.

The woman called for help when assaulted and this scared the man away. Some of her friends hurried to her assistance and she was taken back home. An effort was then made to get medical assistance. In the meantime the husband returned to the house and, fearing that he would do more harm, the police were summoned. At the sight of them the husband fled. He was employed at the American Smelting and Refining Company's plant and the police went there in the hope of getting him. The man was evidently watching them, for when they left the house, he returned.

A News reporter found him there later, but he could not speak English and he refused to talk through an interpreter.

From a woman who lived in a house it was learned that the man was supposed to be living with several different women and that a few days before the one who was attacked took him to task.

The prisoner is now held in the lockup awaiting a hearing. It is thought the woman's injuries are not serious.
