

LONG-TERM CLERKS IN THE P. O. LIST FOR RETIREMENT

Richard S. Lawrenson Heads
Honor Roll With Fifty-
Eight Years of Service.

Fifty-eight years of continuous service in the Post Office Department is the proud record of Richard S. Lawrenson, who is but seventy-five years old, and yet is dean in point of service of all the sixty-one employees of the department who are to be retired August 22.

The name of Mr. Lawrenson "led all the rest" in the retirement "honor roll" made public today by the officials. Mr. Lawrenson, who is a clerk in the department, is a native of Washington and has served since 1862, having been a member of the Post Office Guards in that year.

But it is no new thing in his family. His father, James Lawrenson, served seventy-one years of continuous service in the Post Office Department, from 1819 to 1890, and swore into office twenty-six postmasters general.

Others of Long Service.

Then there is Francis H. Rainey, seventy-five years old, who has had fifty-three years of service. He also is a native of this city. Byron C. Coon, seventy-one years old, has served continuously for fifty years. Lee S. Mortimer, seventy-six years old, has served fifty-one years in the government service. He fought on the battlefields during the civil war.

Capt. Newton M. Brooks, seventy-seven years old, has served forty-eight years in the Post Office Department. He was for many years superintendent of foreign mails and represented the department abroad in concluding many of the international postal conventions. He had a notable military career in the civil war and lost a leg at the battle of Spotsylvania Court House.

Oldest in Point of Age.

Henry M. Le Duc is the oldest employee to be retired, having reached the age of eighty-three years. He has served forty-two years.

Mrs. Lucy Ann Bailey, seventy-four years old, has had forty-seven years in the government service in the Treasury and Post Office departments. Mrs. Bailey lived in Richmond during the civil war, and at the risk of her life took Gen. A. D. Straight and other Union officers who had escaped from Libby prison into her home and cared for them. For this her house was burned and she was forced to flee the state in disguise.

Those Listed for Retirement.

The complete "honor roll" as announced today by the Post Office Department, follows. The first figures following a name represent the age of the employee, the second figure the number of years in the service. The roll is:

SEAMEN OPPOSE MEET.

GENOA, June 22.—Letters from Andrew Furuseth and Herr Wissell, respectively, American and German delegates to the international seamen's conference, expressing dissatisfaction with that gathering, were read before the international labor conference by the chairman today.

Mr. Furuseth declared American delegates had "no desire to be seated in the seamen's conference, since the purpose was not to free seamen, but only to ameliorate the condition of the remaining slaves."

Herr Wissell protested because German delegates were not admitted to membership on commissions.

WOULD ESTABLISH ZONE FOR INDUSTRIAL PLANTS

Recommendations by Business Men to Be Submitted to Zoning Commission.

Recommendations for interpreting the new zoning law for the District of Columbia were drawn up last night at a meeting of the special committee of Merchants and Manufacturers' Association at the Raleigh. The proposed recommendations, which will govern the zone in which manufacturing interests will be placed, will be submitted to the zoning commission at an early date.

Under the proposals of the committee all of the property along the river front, except that which the District and federal governments plan to set aside for parking purposes, and all the property contiguous to railroads available for industrial purposes would be included in the manufacturing zone.

It is understood that Charles J. Columbus, secretary of the Merchants and Manufacturers' Association, is making arrangements for a conference with Commissioner Kutz, a member of the zoning commission, in order to submit the proposals of the special committee, of which Joseph A. Burkart is chairman. The members also includes E. H. Daniel, S. L. Nicholson, G. A. Bonnet and George P. Killian.

MANY AUTO CRASHES REPORTED; BOY KILLED

Bruno Novaro Forgot Lecture
About Traffic Rules—Hit by Truck.

Failure properly to observe the recent advice of Maj. Harry L. Gessford, superintendent of police, given in a traffic campaign of education to school children, cost Bruno Novaro, seven years old, 314 3d street northeast, his life. He was killed by a motor truck at 2d and D streets northeast yesterday afternoon.

Paula Paloroda of St. Helena, Md., driver of the truck for James A. Lackey, Baltimore, was arrested by police of the ninth precinct, and is detained to appear at an inquest at the morgue late today.

It was learned by the police that the boy, while at play, ran across the street into the path of an automobile, the driver of which succeeded in making a quick enough turn to prevent striking him.

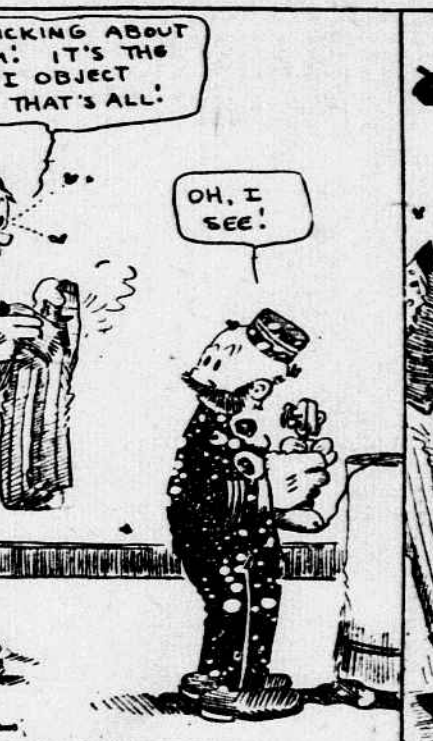

Escaping that machine, the police were informed, Bruno ran directly against the motor truck. One wheel of the truck crushed his skull, and a trolley pole near Connecticut avenue and Calvert street last night. She was treated at her own home for injuries to her face.

An automobile belonging to Rev. J. Henning Nelms, 1121 12th street, driven by R. S. Ellis, collided with a motor truck at Massachusetts avenue and 6th street yesterday afternoon. The automobile was slightly damaged and a young woman occupant suffered a slight injury.

A collision between automobiles driven by Harry Sherman, 2020 G street, and M. Brandt, 700 Florida avenue northeast, occurred at 9th and S streets yesterday afternoon. Both machines were damaged.

TAKOMA PARK COUNCIL COMMITTEES APPOINTED

Mayor Wilmett Makes Selections
for Ensuing Year—Motor-Driven Fire Apparatus in View.

Mayor James L. Wilmett of Takoma Park, Md., has announced the following standing committees of the council for the ensuing year:

Finance—Councilmen H. F. Taft, chairman; H. E. Rogers and J. W. Shadle.

Streets and walks—Councilmen J. W. Shadle, chairman; H. E. Rogers and Prof. Louis D. Bliss.

Water and sewer—Councilmen Dr. H. W. Miller, chairman; H. F. Taft and Prof. Louis D. Bliss.

Public health—Councilmen Prof. Louis D. Bliss, chairman; H. B. Hendricks and Dr. H. W. Miller.

Judiciary—Councilmen H. E. Rogers, chairman; Dr. H. W. Miller and H. B. Hendricks.

Civic improvement—Councilmen H. B. Hendricks, chairman; H. F. Taft and Prof. Louis D. Bliss.

Motor Fire Apparatus Proposed.

The town authorities are considering the proposition of purchasing a motor-driven fire apparatus, to be stationed in the vicinity of the District line. This matter is considered important at this time, in view of the large number of residences erected during the past year on the Maryland side and those contemplated in the near future. The apparatus to be selected probably will be of the lighter type, with chemical apparatus and ample hose of standard size. The pressure from the water works is considered of sufficient force to protect the structures in the park. The town is well supplied with fire plugs, also of the standard size, similar to those in the District. When the fire apparatus at Brightwood responds to calls it connects up with the Maryland water system. The District fire department will continue to co-operate with the Maryland authorities when requests are made for apparatus.

Street Improvements Considered.

The town council is giving its attention to the question of improving several of the main thoroughfares in the park. Takoma avenue from Chestnut to Buffalo avenues is to be paved with tarvia. As soon as this work is completed other avenues will be improved in the same manner. The construction of concrete streets and avenues will also receive consideration by the council in various sections of the park. Only improvements of a permanent character will be the policy of the new council.

PHILADELPHIA, June 22.—Dr. Joseph H. Penniman was appointed acting provost of the University of Pennsylvania to succeed Dr. Edgar Fahs Smith, who retires from this post on June 30, at a special meeting of the board of trustees yesterday.

Out with Old Ma Nature

"Just think of it, Bill. One more perfect day, and then—back to the sad, old grind—to restaurant food, city air, and that listless 'how-I-hate-to-get-up-in-the-morning' feeling. Out here in the woods I really live. The old blood fairly zips through my veins. I eat like a horse and sleep like a rock."

"Of course! In the wilderness you are living as Ma Nature intended you should live. You eat the right sort of food, really work your muscles, and get a proper amount of sleep. Before you came out to the wilds you were poisoned."

"Poisoned! What do you mean?"

"Self-poisoned—food waste stagnating in your colon. It's a trouble that afflicts most sedentary people. You see, mental workers like us don't develop any abdominal muscles to speak of. That's bad. Then we don't eat the sort of food Nature intended we should eat—and that's bad. So sluggish bowels soon begin to plague us and constipation is the result."

"How about laxatives?"

"You know what happens when you take those drugs. You get a partial movement, or one so violent that your system is exhausted for a day or two after the first spasm. The next dose has to be stronger, because the bowels are weakened."

In time you are a confirmed victim of the laxative habit and constipation is chronic."

"Well, what is the answer, then, for us slaves of the desk?"

"Nujol. It will put you right as a trivet, as it has done me. Nujol works on an entirely new principle. Instead of forcing the system, it simply softens the food waste. This helps the many tiny muscles in the walls of the intestines, contracting and expanding in their normal way, to squeeze the food waste along so that it passes naturally out of the system."

"That sounds like common sense."

"None better. Nujol prevents constipation because it helps Nature maintain easy, thorough bowel evacuation at regular intervals, which someone has called 'the healthiest habit in the world'. It's absolutely harmless and pleasant to take."

"Say, that must be great stuff. Write the name down on a piece of paper, and I'll buy a bottle or two when we get back. I want to keep the regular habits I've picked up out here."

Nujol is sold by all druggists in sealed bottles only, bearing the Nujol trade mark. Write the Nujol Laboratories, Standard Oil Co. (New Jersey), 50 Broadway, New York, for booklet "Thirty Feet of Danger."
