

CAN SHORTAGE ALARMS CANNERS

Shore Packers Unable to Buy Containers and Farmers Fear Price

WON'T BID HIGH FOR TOMATOES

EASTON, Md., July 26.—While the farmers are worrying over the excessive rains recently for fear the tomato crop will be ruined, the canners are having their troubles also in securing containers for this season's pack. All kinds of reasons are heard for the shortage, among which are the idleness of the canmakers due to labor troubles, and the poor service of the railroads in moving tinplate.

A representative of one of the largest can manufacturers in the East was here and stated that he could not promise definitely any certain deliveries. He was willing to take orders and do the best he could, but would make no guarantee.

The canning of corn will start within a few weeks, to be followed by tomatoes, but unless cans can be had serious difficulties will confront not only the packer but the grower. During the pea pack last year (to a great extent, and this has completely exhausted the reserve stock of the canners.

Canners having plants on the water front have been in Baltimore for some time past, it is said, and bought whatever and wherever they could obtain in the way of cans. Some of these were loaded on vessels and shipped, but as there are but a few of these the situation as a whole is little improved.

Others have started a truck route to the city in an effort to get cans. The time is very near at hand now and the canners cannot afford to wait on the railroads, whose shipments to this part of the State are slow at best. Unless the situation greatly improves in the next week or so, it will have a disastrous effect on the farmers.

The price for tomatoes is worrying the farmers. It is rumored that a very low price will be offered, as the canners are not particular whether they can any this season or not. A great many of them still have their last year's pack unsold, and as the majority of the farmers have not contracted they are at the mercy of the buyers.

GETS $7,500 FOR HIS WHEAT.
CHESTERTOWN, Md., July 26.—James Gibbs, of Massy, has had good success with his wheat crop. Getting an average of 20 bushels to the acre, he sold his entire yield of 2,500 bushels from one farm for $3 a bushel and realized $7,500.

E. Thomas Massey, another farmer of Massy, won third prize in a recent contest for the largest percentage of his farm in wheat. He received a check for $250.

FARMER DIES FROM HEAT.
EASTON, Md., July 26.—John McCormick, farmer, of Covey, Talbot county, was overcome by the heat on Saturday, while helping at threshing on the farm of his son, John McCormick, Jr., and dropped dead.

A number of other persons are reported to have been overcome working at threshing, but Mr. McCormick is the only one who died, so far as is known.

FIREMEN'S FAIR ATTRACTS CROWD

Annual Street Carnival Opened at Newark Saturday Night

DELAWARE COLLEGE BUYS PROPERTIES

Special to The Evening Journal.
NEWARK, July 26.—That the Newark firemen's annual street carnival continues to grow in popularity was indicated by the large crowd that attended the opening of the carnival Saturday night. The grounds in the rear of the high school were crowded from early evening until midnight and all the amusements and booths did a big business.

E. Clifford Wilson, chairman of the general committee is much pleased with the success of the opening night and says the receipts were $600 in excess of the opening night of last year which was a record up until that time. The carnival will continue each night this week.

Dancing proved a special attraction Saturday night. The dancing is held in the armory in charge of a committee of firemen and a large number of couples were on the floor during the evening. The vaudeville show was another special attraction Saturday night. The various booths were prettily decorated.

Announcement has been made of the purchase by Delaware College of the six brick dwellings owned by Miss Addie Wilson on Delaware avenue, adjoining St. Thomas' Church.
For several years there has been considerable difficulty in getting houses for members of the college faculty and it is to relieve this situation that the properties have been purchased. Two members of the college faculty, Professor W. A. Wilkinson and Professor Helm already live in two of the properties. The tenants of the other four houses have been notified to vacate the latter part of September to make room for new members of the faculty who will come to Delaware at that time.

JEAN
Jean, is one of the many French names which have come to be Anglicized by dropping the final ending.
Though infinitely prettier when spelled Jeanne, it is apparently thought to savor too much of the Gaelic for English ears. It is one of the simplest of feminine names—its equivalent Jane being the sole example of an appellation even less burdened with affection.

JEANNE appeared in the south of France and Navarre. The latter was especially a patrician name and its bearer married into many of the royal families of the times. The daughter of Henry II, who married into Sicily, was the first English princess so called. The Scottish Jean Beaufort, whom the Scots called Jean, was the maiden beloved by the captive James I.

The sapphire is the talismanic gem belonging to Jean. It is said to attract divine favor for her and protect her from all danger and disease.
Friday is her lucky day and 2 her lucky number.

PASTOR DENIES INTENT TO WOUND

Although the Polish Citizen's Committee has not received a reply from the Rev. John J. Monahan, Bishop of the Diocese of Wilmington relative to their demands that the Rev.
John S. Gulez, be removed from the pastorate of St. Hedwig's church because of his recent public interview concerning Poland. Father Gulez has issued a statement. He says:

"The statements in the interview represented my impressions and things as I have seen them in Poland. I would not be true to Poland if I colored the truth, as I saw it.
That my predictions came true is only too sad; but it nevertheless home on East Main street, after an illness of one week. She is survived by two daughters, Miss Nellie Wilson and Miss Edna J. Wilson, and one grandson, Captain J. Wilson O'Daniel.

The funeral will be held at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon and interment made in Head of Christiana cemetery.

speaks well for my observations in Poland.

"My interview was given out four days after my return from Europe, when I did not know efforts were being made to sell Polish bonds. If my statements had any tendency to injure the cause of Poland, which I doubt, my recent appeals for the sale of bonds put to flight the ridiculous assertions the interview was given out for the purpose of injuring the work which the committee has performed for the past several years."

SEE-SAW CHAIRS FOR PLAYGROUND

A see-saw on the playground of the Community Service at Tenth and Market streets, the gift of little Ann Nields, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Nields, is proving a favorite discretion for the children frequenting the place.

Little Miss Nields had been observing the children using the playgrounds, and, remembering her rejected see-saw, offered it to the Community Service, and shortly it was installed on the playground, much to the delight of the children.

The Community Service was also presented with 22 chairs, to be used by the musicians of the Philharmonic Band which is presenting the concerts for the service at the various parks throughout the city. The present was made by Nathan Miller, of Miller Bros. Co. Previously the bandmen had to use park benches, three to a seat, an unsatisfactory arrangement because it crowded the open and did not allow proper lighting.

A new set of swings was put in the playground at Tenth and Market streets Saturday by John C. Berger, physical director. One other swing installed some time ago was moved to a firmer cement foundation. Other apparatus will be installed as specially as it arrives.

FINE WOMAN FOR SLAPPING CHILDREN

Offering no defense, Mrs. Margaret Hans, of Baltimore, was fined $4 and costs in Magistrate N. B. Ferguson's court at Lewes on Saturday on a charge of assault and battery, on two children at Rehoboth. The charge was preferred by Chester H. Wells, State Health Commissioner who was a witness at the hearing.

Mrs. Hans pleaded guilty to the charge. It was charged Mrs. Hans had shaken and struck two small children.

at the Red Men's Hall, to arrange ten-ative plans for the new operation.
The call for the meeting was sent out some weeks ago by Great Sachem Gradwohl, who presided.

was effected by electing Frank A.
Bedford, secretary. The plans for building a new hall were discussed and arrangements made for future
