MOVIE CAMERA RECORDS FACES OF 1,200 BABIES

Tomorrow Will Be Last Class Day of Show Being Conducted at Poli's.

Tomorrow will be the last class day of the baby show at Poli's Theater. Today the three to four year old class will be judged and tomorrow the four to five year old will wind up the show.

More than 1,200 babies are already shadowed on movie celluloid to give future generations a sight of the 1920 Washington baby. Tomorrow will be the last day for the babies to be filmed. All mothers of babies in classes previously judged, but who have not yet been filmed, are invited to bring the children to Poli's at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, when they will be taken with the movies of the children in the four to five year old class.

Announcement was made today that winners would be flashed on the screen at Poli's next week in the following series: On Monday, winners in the one to six month class; on Tuesday, winners in the six-month to one-year class; on Wednesday, winners in the one to two year class; on Thursday, winners in the two to three year class, and on Friday, winners in both the three to four year and four to five year old class.

GRIEF EVERYWHERE

I'm in a land enchanting, where springtime always dwells, and birds are gallivanting around me, wearing bells. Here no one ever freezes, no sunstroke threatens me, and here the soothing breezes come sighing from the sea. It's like a dream of Eden, one flower-bespangled lawn, a land to rest and read in, and bid all woe begone. Here we should all be joyous, where tranquil springtime lives, where nothing can annoy us in all that nature gives. Yet here men dig up sorrow, and if no grief they own, they go around and borrow some woe o'er which to groan. This morning I was sitting beneath some tropic trees; a stranger with his knitting came up to share the breeze. I said to him, "O stranger, this is a wondrous day, and thoughts of grief and danger seem worlds and worlds away!" He viewed the distant steeples, the San Diego towers, and sighed, "The yellow peoples have spoiled this land of ours!" And then he raged and rumbled, and voiced his doubts and fears, he ranted and he grumbled, and shed a quart of tears. And all through his repining, and through his "Woe is me," a golden sun was shining upon the sparkling sea.

POLICE TO ASK RAISE.

Want Increase Commensurate With Reclassification Report.

Members of the Policemen's Association, at a meeting last night in Pythian Temple, voted to ask the Commissioners to include in their estimates for next year a recommendation for salary increases commensurate with the recommendation of the reclassification commission. President C. L. Dalrymple was directed to forward the request to the Commissioners and Maj. Harry L. Gessford, superintendent of police.

The association also voted to ask that an allowance be made for uniforms, it being stated that such an allowance is provided for police of most of the larger cities. Another matter of importance to the association was the question of providing a six-day week for members of the force. During the discussion it was pointed out that practically all other employes of the District government have a day off each week.

Mrs. Mina C. Van Winkle, head of the woman's bureau, was elected to membership.

MUST WAIT ON DAMAGES.

Damages asked by owners of motor vehicles in collision with government mail trucks cannot be paid because of absence of any funds for reimbursement, James I. Blakslee, fourth assistant postmaster general, announced today in a letter to H. B. Leary of this city.

Mr. Leary had put in claim for damages. Only an appropriation by a special act of Congress could meet the situation, Mr. Blakslee declares.

HITS AT PROFITEERING.

Court Denies Accused Gougers Injunction Cloak.

Justices Day and Pitney yesterday ruled that wholesale dealers in sugar and clothing who are charged with profiteering cannot delay action by injunction proceedings until the Supreme Court of the United States has passed upon the constitutionality of the Lever act.

The decision was made in the case of the G. S. Willard Company of New York, accused of profiteering in sugar. The company sought an injunction. Similar injunctions by several clothing firms being prosecuted by the Department of Justic have already been denied.
