AT DWIGHT PLACE CHURCH.

Second Entertainment Under the Auspices of the Ladies' Society.

The second entertainment of the course being produced by the Ladies' Benevolent society of Dwight Place church was given in the auditorium of the church last evening and was attended by a cultured and appreciative audience. It was in every way one of the most enjoyable of the many similar ones that have been given this season.

Miss Julia T. King of Boston, assisted by Mrs. F. Howard Russell, soprano, and H. H. Whittaker, organist, furnished a most delightful programme of musical and literary selections. Miss King, although but rarely heard in this city, is well known to New Haveners. She is a member of the faculty of the Emerson College of Oratory, Boston, and one of the famous lady elocutionists of the country. She not only possesses talent and artistic instinct, both of which are developed to an unusual degree, but good looks as well, and last evening she was accorded a very flattering reception. Encores were demanded for all her selections and to these she responded charmingly. Her acting in a scene from Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night" reminded one forcibly of the Princess Ida of Tennyson. The songs of Mrs. Russell were as heartily appreciated as the recitations of Miss King, and like the latter she, too, received numerous encores. Mr. Whittaker played with his usual finish. All those who took part were presented with handsome bouquets of flowers.

The last entertainment of the course will be a musical cantata entitled "The Quilting Bee," which will be presented in Warner hall Friday evening, March 23.

KIMBERLEY SOCIAL CLUB.

Mr. Fahy, the popular monologist, pleased his friends with some new talks. There were several interesting boxing bouts, in the best of which Griffin bested Grogan in the fourth round of a bout which was scheduled for six rounds. They met at 125 pounds. Barry and Morrissey at 102 pounds drew in a four round bout.

WALLINGFORD HAPPENINGS

NEW HAVEN COUPLE MARRIED IN THE BOROUGH YESTERDAY.

John Suhn and Joseph Bonock Arrested on the Charge of Assault—G. A. R. Social This Evening.

Willard S. Clarke and Miss Mabel Estelle Clark, both of New Haven, came up here yesterday and procured a marriage license and were married at the rectory by Rev. J. E. Wildman and returned to New Haven, it is supposed, on the afternoon train. Both gave their age as twenty-one years.

They were brought before Judge Judd yesterday morning. The judge released them pending an investigation by Prosecuting Attorney Downs.

The case against Isidore Derecktor, the Meriden Hebrew, who is charged with selling diseased meat, will come up this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

The G. A. R. will hold a social in the post room this evening.

RAILROADS AND BRIDGES COMMITTEE.

Several Petitions Heard Last Night—Recommendations Made.

The committee on railroads and bridges met last night in the city hall and considered the petition of the Fair Haven and Westville Railroad company for permission to lay a crossover track on Chapel street west of Ferry street, the resolution directing the Fair Haven and Westville Railroad company to connect its east track on Church street with its north track on Chapel street at the intersection of Church and Chapel streets and to pave the intersection with vitrified brick, and the petition of N. W. Kendall for a bridge over the tracks of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad company at the Bridge street crossing.

After the hearing an executive session was held and the committee recommended the granting of the petition of the Fair Haven road, also giving leave to withdraw the resolution directing the road to connect the track at the corner of Church and Chapel streets. The petition of N. W. Kendall was referred to the corporation counsel. Mr. Kendall was heard first. He stated that the petition to bridge the tracks over the Consolidated road at the Bridge street crossing was one that nearly everybody in that vicinity was ready to sign, if they had not already done so. Mr. Kendall said that the crossing at Bridge street was used probably as much as any in the city, and especially during the summer, when the travel over that road was very heavy. He said that at present the crossing was, without a doubt the most dangerous in New Haven, and the building of a bridge at that crossing would be very advantageous.

Alderman Donovan was there to oppose the petition, and he opposed it strongly. He said that the city had no right to build a bridge there, as the property was owned by the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad, and if it was built the claims of the railroad company would greatly exceed the cost of the work. He said the city would have to spend $100,000 on the project, which, he said, could not be afforded, by any means. Alderman Donovan then went on to say that some of Mr. Kendall's remarks were unfounded.

Mr. Punderford of the Fair Haven and Westville road represented the company in the petition to lay crossover tracks on Chapel sereet west of Ferry street, and said that the laying of the tracks would be a good thing for everybody and could do no one any possible harm. Alderman Donovan also spoke in favor of the petition.

A PALATIAL SANATORIUM.

A French Cook and an Ocean Yacht Among its Attractions.

A unique institution for the treatment of sufferers from tuberculosis is now being built on the northern shore of Sicily, near Palermo. It is to be known as the Villa Igiea. Its founder, Commendatore Florio, is largely animated by considerations of benevolence in this enterprise, for, although persons of ample means can take advantage of its benefits, he has provided that after the expense of repairs has been met all surplus receipts shall go to the establishments of sanatoriums for the poor.

Villa Igiea will stand at the head of a small bay, looking to the southward. Its site is a magnificent one, forty yards from the rocky edge of the sea, with terraces between. In the rear Monte Pellegrino shelters the house from the northern breezes. The edifice itself will be exceedingly beautiful and it is to be surrounded by temples, grottos and marble benches. At night the grounds will be illuminated by thousands of lamps. The medical director, Professor Cervello, has made a special study of the fresh air and ample diet systems of dealing with phthisis in Germany. But he will offer those to whom he ministers a much milder climate than that of the Black Forest, and he announces that a French chef will form an important member of the staff. A yacht of 300 tons will also be at the service of those who want it. Accomodations for about one hundred persons will be afforded at this luxurious resort. It is expected that the opening ceremonies a few months hence will be attended by the King and Queen of Italy.—New York Tribune.
