

SLAYER KELLY TO DIE NEXT MONTH

Justice Refuses His Plea to Pass Sentence on a Day Other Than "Hoodoo" Friday.

Frank Kelly, the negro who was convicted of the murder of Catharine Dunn in the robbery of the home of C. Perry Clark in Brooklyn two weeks ago, was sentenced by Judge Kapper in the Criminal Branch of the Supreme Court in Brooklyn to-day to die in the electric chair in the week of Feb. 16.

Through his lawyer, E. J. Kelly, Kelly asked to be sentenced on some other day. He revived his contention that his crimes were the result of superstitious credulity by asserting that he believed his efforts to appeal would be hoodooed by a Friday sentence.

District Attorney Lewis bitterly opposed Mr. Kelly's motion, saying that the woman murdered by Kelly had not been consulted as to the day of her death. Justice Kapper said he would not impose on the sheriff the keeping of Kelly in a county jail any longer than was absolutely necessary and added that the verdict of conviction was in accordance with the facts and the justice's own views.

MURDER SUSPECT CHARGES "FRAME"

Tells Yonkers Judge Witness Offered Him Black Cloth for "Funeral."

Samuel Michalow of No. 52 Pike Street, on stand to-day in Justice Tompkins's Court where he is being tried for the murder of Mrs. Elizabeth Nianick of Yonkers, denied knowing anything about the murder or knowing Mrs. Nianick. The Justice denied a motion to direct the jury to acquit on the ground that Michalow was not in Yonkers at the time of the crime. Michalow said he had first seen Max Lipp yesterday confessed to taking part in the murder and charged Michalow with instigating him for the crime, in a saloon brawl in Madison Street, Manhattan, last July. He said Lipp knew Lipp was against him because in White Plains jail Lipp lowered a square of black cloth in front of his cell and shouted: "Michalow, this is for your funeral!"

MAN AND BRIDE HELD AS SLAYERS

Young Rochester Couple Alleged to Have Taken Victim to His Death Handcuffed.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Jan. 8.—James L. O'Dell, twenty-one, and his wife, Pearl, eighteen, were charged with murder in the first degree, early to-day, the alleged victim being Edward Knepf, twenty-three, whose body was found yesterday beneath a culvert on the Mosquito Road south of the city. He had been beaten and stabbed to death. Charles H. Scherer and Edward Spink, the former the driver of the taxicab in which O'Dell and his wife and their alleged victim drove to the scene of the crime, the latter his companion, are held at the jail as witnesses. The police say they have confessions from both O'Dell and Mrs. O'Dell. According to these, the motive for the crime was revenge for incidents that occurred two years before the marriage of the O'Dells on Dec. 12 last. The victim was taken handcuffed to the lonely country road on pretense of being in custody of O'Dell, who impersonated an officer, according to the police and fastened to a tree. Mrs. O'Dell is alleged to have dealt the fatal blows.

Jerry was the special charge of Detective Mike Hreen, and, although a native of Belgium, understood English fluently.
