$500 GROWS TO $5,000,000
One Man's Experience in the Oil Lease Business"

Judge Day, formerly Justice of the Supreme Court of Oklahoma, was "persuaded" to put $500 in a lease deal. Shortly afterward his friend came back and asked for another five hundred. Judge Day "came across," but made it very plain it was for the last time.

Within 60 days he was offered several hundred thousand dollars for his interests. Then Judge Day became interested.

Today his holdings amount to about five million dollars, all as the result of the first "flier" in leases. He has retired from the bench, because his time is fully taken up in looking after his personal business interests.

Three years ago Judge Day would consider dealing in leases as a pure gamble, but today he knows that it is legitimate and an extraordinary profitable business. Today the oil industry is one of the greatest.

I handle only legitimate leases in good formation, and while there is an element of chance, as there is in the real estate business or any other, no one ever lost a penny that has purchased leases, and many have doubled their money, and trebled it in the past 30 days. Come in and see me, talk it over, act quick, for wells are coming in daily, and the leases are going up daily.

Four commodious passenger liners, with accommodations for 300 first-class passengers, will operate out of Seattle on the Oriental run next fall, it was announced Wednesday. The ships, built by the United States shipping board, will be units of the Pacific Steamship company's fleet. The first of the vessels, the Wenatchee, is to arrive here in September.

CHINA, RUSSIA U. S. MARKETS

Will Be Big Customers Says American Expert

SAN FRANCISCO, May 13.—China and Russia are the two great markets for American goods for the future, according to M. A. Oudin, vice president of the International General Electric company. Oudin, who is attending the national foreign trade council, today pointed out that the Chinese and Russian markets were the really great field for American manufacturers.

"The market for American goods in China is hindered only by the small buying power of that country," Oudin said.

He denied printed reports of immediate trade possibilities with Russia.

"There will be no large scale trade with Russia regardless of the lifting of the blockade, until adequate transportation is provided," he said. "Reports of expansion have been very greatly exaggerated."

Asked what effect the Lamont mission would have on China's buying power, Oudin declared the ultimate result will strongly benefit American manufacturers but that immediate expansion could not be looked for.

"China's greatest need is an extension of credit," he said. Oudin said there was no single factor, all important, but that shipping, long-term credits and opening of American representations were equally important in American trade expansion."

Immigrants Americanize Themselves!

Oakland Tries Out a Novel System

This Oakland immigrant mother is learning to write, not for any abstract reason, but because she loves what she's writing about.

OAKLAND, Cal.—(By Mail.)—"Every immigrant a self-Americanizer." That is the broad-gauge program being worked out by this city, the foremost city in the country today in the new and democratic plan of Americanization.

More than 40 Oakland bodies, public and semi-public, were all doing Americanization work separately. Then the state of California decided to be the first state in the Union to go at the big job on the wholesale plan.

OAKLAND PLANS TO SHOW THE COUNTRY

The state committee for Americanization, appointed by the governor, got the 40 Oakland agencies together to start a big demonstration that would show California and the United States how to teach English and citizenship to foreign-born peoples.

Instead of gathering immigrants into classes to listen to dry lectures, Oakland is organizing social clubs, athletic clubs, health-center clubs, dramatic clubs. The immigrants are getting interested—why? Because the activities express the things that are way down at the bottom of human nature.

Foreign mothers are talking together, in broken English, about the health of their babies as revealed by city health inspectors.

Greek and Slavic lads are exchanging pointers, in English, about boxing and volleyball and wrestling.

GIRLS TALK OF FUTURE HOMES

Rumanian girls and Polish girls are chattering together about the best methods of running their future homes and caring for their future husbands and babies.

A Russian woman, on a blackboard, is writing, "I love my baby." She never wrote in English before. The reason she is writing is this: She does love her baby. And she wants to tell the world about it—in English.

"The great advantage of this method," says John Collier, state director of Americanization, "is that it keeps alive the foreign customs which will mean much to American life. It is based on the deepest things in human nature. The only way immigrants and Americans can ever get together is just by being human beings, and organizing as such."

$5,000 Fine Is Sliced Down $4,950 for Japs

When the Milkesan Maru left Kobe for the United States a few weeks ago all regulations were complied with, says her master, Tatsuzo Ito.

When she arrived at Port Townsend on May 3 she faced a $5,000 fine for failure to comply with health regulations.

The point was that when the vessel stopped at Shanghai April 3 to 6, Captain Ito failed to get an American consular supplementary bill of health. He says that the consul was not to be found and that the office was closed.

However that may be, upon representation of good intentions and having cabled to Shanghai for the missing statement, the treasury department has decided that it was a technical violation only, and the fine is reduced to $50.

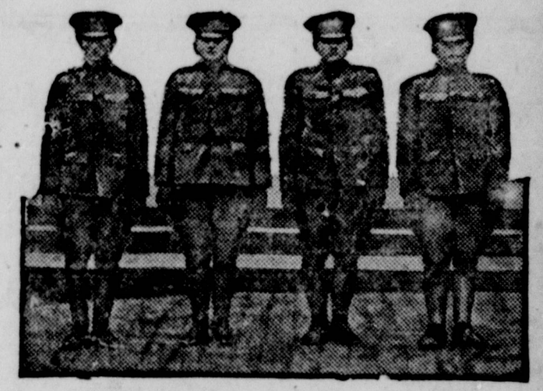
Everyone aboard was in good health when the vessel arrived at Port Townsend.

Ex-"King" Retires to the Workhouse

LONDON, May 13.—Formerly "king of Bardsey Island" in Cardigan bay, and dethroned by his "subjects" some years ago, John Williams, who has been living in a cottage at Pwelheli, has now gone into the workhouse.

Lots of Trouble for Bridegroom

NEW YORK, May 13.—The charges against Joseph E. Dooley, 22 years old, would send him to prison for 50 years or more if he should be convicted on them all. It is alleged that he married Louise Baumann; gave her a worthless check for $25,000; and assaulted the girl's brother. Now another woman appears claiming to be Dooley's rightful wife. Hotels and taxicab companies file claims against him for numerous bills.



The story of four men

Lead a good healthy life
Learn a trade or get a schooling
Get military training
Be with men from your own home State

LOOK at them—first as they were on the day they joined the Army, then after one month of training. The story tells itself in the way they stand.

Getting on in the world depends a good deal on the health and energy you've got, on how hard you can hit the line.

Thousands of men right now are getting themselves in physical condition to do real things in life, by training in the new democratic, peace-time Army.

Ask if there's a vacancy.
