ACQUITTED!

CARTHAGE, Miss., March 12.—Russell Broach was acquitted this afternoon from being implicated in the murder of the Gamble family. He will start for his home tonight, but it is doubtful if he will ever reach it alive. The other eight prisoners are in a brick jail, 22 miles off the railroad, with heavy guards.

HONOLULU HAPPENINGS

HONOLULU, March 3.—The German steamer Eva, which sailed from San Francisco Feb. 13 for Yokohama, put in here on the 27th, having run short of coal in a terrible storm encountered after leaving San Francisco. She was fourteen days making this port. Her upper works were somewhat damaged and one of her boats smashed. She coaled here and sailed yesterday on her voyage.

HONOLULU, March 3. — The Oceanic steamship Zealandia arrived here Feb. 24 from Santa Monica, Cal. with 765 Porto Rican laborers for the sugar plantations. On the trip down several of the immigrants died and since arriving several more have succumbed. The Porto Ricans were guarded here and not allowed off the steamer except to be put on the island steamers for transportation to other islands.

HONOLULU, March 3.—The Hawaiian Navigation Company's gasoline schooner Surprise was wrecked at Koloa Kauai, on Feb. 23 by a heavy wind and a small tidal wave. An attempt is being made to float her. No lives were lost in the accident.

HONOLULU, March 3.—William H. Marshall, a well known newspaper man of California, who has been in prison for four months for libel, was yesterday pardoned by Governor Dole.

A Blind Sportsman.

That interesting writer, "Kettledrum," in the Sporting Chronicle, tells a marvelous story of a blind sportsman of the 18th century. His name was John Metcalf, and he was born at Knaresborough in 1718. He was blinded by smallpox at the age of four years.

In spite of his infirmity John Metcalf joined the other boys in robbing orchards and depleting henroosts. He learned to ride and became an excellent violinist. He frequently hunted with the hounds.

At the age of 14 his activity in sport and the freedom he had enjoyed from accident, caused him to be quite fearless, and he was getting through life with greater fun than ordinary lads. But he had a severe lesson, owing to a fall into a gravel pit when a farmer surprised him robbing a plum tree. But he was not seriously injured and we next find him showing expertness at swimming, and such strength that he could push his companions below and swim over them. Such was his fame in this direction that, two men being drowned in the Nidd, Metcalf was engaged to seek for their bodies, and, diving, brought one of them from the river deeps.

He began to attend the races at York, and it was common for him to ride among the crowd, and, helped by gentlemen to whom he was known, he often betted with success. It was thought a wild thing when he matched one of his horses to run three miles on the Forest Moor.

With the idea that Metcalf would be unable to keep the right course, long odds were betted against him. But his ingenuity provided him with an expedient in the dilemma. The track was round one of a mile, and at each turn he had a man stationed with a bell to ring out his approach. This scheme and the superior speed of his mount, pulled him through and he was heartily cheered on victory.

As a horse dealer he traded to advantage, and at 21 he enjoyed robust health and stood six feet and an inch. He showed at this period some pugilistic ability, and soundly thrashed a bully.

FIRST THAW.

DAWSON, March 7.—The The first thaw since autumn occurred today. A warm chinook is blowing and helping immensely to help the snow.

As a result the roads and trails are heavy. Teams are blockaded, and those reaching the city tonight from the different creeks report that traveling is a hard task.

Surrender Expected.

LONDON, March 12.—The Evening Sun says the government is in momentary expectation of the official surrender of Gen. Botha and all the Boers under his command.

MYSTERIOUS.

DAWSON, March 7.—Great excitement prevails at the headquarters of the Mounted Police tonight, and the best officers are closely closeted unraveling a most mysterious death.

This morning the dead body of J. G. Schwindt, a teamster from California, was found. Suspicious circumstances surround the sudden demise. It is feared that a murder has been committed, and the best sleuths are working hard on the case.

CANADA ANNEXED

Promoters Have Planned a Commercial Coup.

OTTAWA, Ont., March 12.—The parliament of Canada will be engaged until the end of the session in the consideration of three of the largest measures ever presented for its consideration since the inception of the Canadian Pacific railroad scheme. Jas. J. Hill, F. H. Clergue and other promoters engaged in securing charters, will superintend operations here.

These measures are the Crow's Nest Pass Coal & Railway project, the Canadian Lloyd's bill, and the scheme intended to complete a new transcontinental route practically under government control and partially under government ownership.

A hard problem which must be faced is the acquisition by American capitalists of the control of Canada's greatest industries. It is computed that the passage of the Sydney Cape Breton steel and coal interests into the hands of the American steel syndicate means in effect that the Canadian treasury will be called upon to pay direct tribute to the syndicate to the extent of $13,000,000 a year under the bounty law. The bounty expires in 1908, and if the trust can put out 10,000,000 tons of manufactured product in that period, it will cost the Canadian taxpayers $10,000,000 in cash. The situation is thus summed up.

"With the Morgan-Rockefeller trust controlling the iron and coal of the Atlantic seaboard, with Hill and Rockefeller controlling the coal of Crow's Nest pass, with the same combination directing the Midland, the Soo and the Nanaimo (B. C.) enterprises, the annexation of Canada's industries will be practically complete and Canada henceforth a mere annex of the American syndicate."

These subjects will come prominently to the front during the coming month and indications of the policy of the government are sure to be elicited by the discussions in the railway and private bills committees of the house, where all such questions must be thoroughly sifted.

DECLARED DIVIDEND

NEW YORK, March 12.—The Northern Pacific railroad has declared a 1 per cent dividend, payable May 6.

The Pennsylvania lines have increased their $100,000,000 stock.

Bond Approved.

The bond of David Dow & Co., in the sum of $4,200 for the re-sidewalking of Fourteenth avenue south from Massachusetts street to Lander street, was filed at the city hall today and approved by the comptroller.

Bernhardt and Her Shoes.

Although Mme. Sarah Bernhardt never walks in the streets or in the parks, she has one of the most extraordinary and original outfits of footgear ever known. It consists of 120 pairs of shoes, which are carried about in two enormous traveling trunks, separated into small compartments.

Each pair of shoes is catalogued and numbered, and there is not a single pair of walking shoes among them.

For every dress the actress has shoes and silk stockings to match. Her slippers are edged with laces and narrow ribbons, and are often decorated with gold and silver buckles and jeweled buttons, set with pearls and other gems. Some of them are painted by clever artists on the groundwork of silk, satin or morocco, and these are laced with gold and silver cords and tied with bows of ribbon.

REMARKABLE OPERATION

Patient's Stomach Removed and Shortened.

NEW YORK, March 12.—Lewis J. McKenna, a clerk in an insurance office, is in St. Luke's hospital, recovering from a surgical operation, one of the rarest known to modern science.

The operation is known as gastroanterostomy, and consists of removing the patient's stomach, cutting away the pylorix and several malignant growths in its vicinity and restoring the stomach to its former place.

The vertical incision, about five inches long, was made in the abdomen and through the growth, the exposed pylorix showing a tumor outside of the stomach. An incision was then made in the stomach, and inside was found a cancerous growth the size of a large orange. The point where the incision was made—at the pylorix—is the exit of the stomach into the intestines, the other being the entrance through esophagus.

The stomach was cut away from the inside of the patient completely, being removed and placed on a cushion of antiseptic cloths placed on the patient's chest. Then the doctors cut away the tumor and cut off the pylorix, the other malignant growth being also thoroughly cut away. The stomach was then put back in its accustomed place, having been joined to the intestines with silk sutures.

But little blood was apparent throughout the whole operation, which lasted one hour and 15 minutes. The patient rallied at once, and it was seen that the operation was a success.

LOW RATES MAY COME

Merrill Telephone Bill Will Knock Out Exorbitant Charges.

Subscribers for telephone service have strong hopes that before long the high rate charged by the Sunset company will be abolished by a state law.

The house yesterday passed the Merrill telephone bill, which provides that business telephones shall be rented at a rate not greater than $4 a month; that rates for two party lines shall not exceed $2.50, and for more than two-party $1.50. It is specified that consent of the other subscribers must be obtained before extra subscribers can be added to lines having more than two parties connected.

Long distance rates prescribed are: For less than 50 miles, 25 cents; 50 to 100 miles, 40 cents; greater distances, ½ cent per mile. The rates are based on a three minutes' conversation.

Fine Acquaintance.

The local feature of this bill embodies just about what is contained in the franchise held by the Sunset monopoly, but in absolute disregard to the law made by council, the company continues to charge rates that it knows are illegal.

A councilman said this morning: "There is a communication before the city council now, asking why the Sunset company charges $6 and even more, for a 'phone. That communication was referred to a committee over six months ago, and there it is today. A majority of the council turns it down every time it is brought up."

A bill in the council seeks to affix a penalty of $25 for violation on the company's part in charging over $4 per month for a telephone in a business place, and $2.50 for a private two-party line.

The reason the Sunset monopoly can brazenly charge $6 and over for a 'phone was explained by the same councilman as follows:

Cheaper to Pay Up.

"The company knows that the city will not prosecute for violation, and the private individual thinks it is cheaper to quietly pay an extra dollar or two than to bring suit and go through quo warrantos and all kinds of actions of the federal and state courts. This Merrill bill is just the thing, for it places the matter in the attorney general's hands, and he can fight the company to a standstill and has money to do it with."

The provision in the new bill as passed yesterday, fixing a penalty of not less than $50 and no more than $100 for any company violating the law, is generally met with approval, and it is thought such will be more effective than a more severe penalty such as forfeiture of franchise, which would result in lengthy litigation by the offending company.

Long-Standing Deposit.

A few days ago an advertisement appeared in a New York paper asking for the address of any heirs of the Hansam family, who lived in Hudson in 1821. Rossman Huested remembered that Hansam was the name of Mrs. Mary G. Little, who lives with her family at No. 358 Union street.

Huested took the notice, which was inserted by the Bank of Savings, New York, to Mrs. Little, who recalled that nearly eighty years ago a friend had placed $3 on deposit for her in that bank, and a little later in the same year another friend had deposited $2 more. The event Mrs. Little clearly remembered, and even the names of the two friends, Messrs. Carpenter and White. At that time she was but a small child, her name being Mary Gardner Hansam.

Steps were at once taken to procure the necessary identification papers and the bank was communicated with through Edmund Holley, president of the Hudson City Savings institution. He was notified that the $5 now amounted to $202.04 and would be forwarded upon the proper proofs. These have been mailed to New York and Mrs. Little will shortly receive this sum, which will come almost in the shape of a birthday present, as she will celebrate her 84th birthday the last day of March.

MARKETS.

Markets were featureless today. Trade was fair locally, with out-of-town business dragging a little.

Two cars of potatoes came in today, and a little poultry.

Eggs have an upward tendency, but as yet cannot be called above 16 cents.

THE PENALTY FOR SPITTING

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 12.—Trial of suit of Geo. C. Barker, of Maine, against Representative S. B. Cooper, of Texas, is under way. Barker seeks $10,00 damages because of an alleged assault. On May 31 last the two were passengers on a train cooing to this city. Barker asserts he was disgusted because of Cooper's spitting upon the floor of the Pullman car. He suggested that men of Cooper's habits should travel in a cattle car. Because of this, he says, Cooper struck him.

Cooper says he had only recovered from a severe illness and was attending to his own business while in the car. He spat upon the floor because a fellow passenger had his foot upon the cuspidor. The conductor saw nothing to complain of in Cooper's acts. Cooper's attorneys also claim that he retired to the smoking car and was followed there by Barker, who called him an offensive name, and that Cooper then struck him in the face with his open hand.

COURTHOUSE.

The Hoshor embezzlement case was resumed in the criminal department of the superior court this morning. The testimony of A. A. Miller, exchange teller of the Pacific National Bank of Tacoma, occupied a portion of the morning. Mr. Miller's testimony in furtherance of the state's theory that Hoshor secreted a portion of the $20,500 which he is alleged to have embezzled, was that the defendant had drawn on different occasions a large portion of the money.

Hoshor, it is held, drew from the Tacoma bank at another time nearly $10,000, and deposited it in the Fidelity Trust Company's vaults in the name of his uncle's wife, Mrs. J. B. Thompson.

H. G. Torrence, the prosecuting witness, took the stand for a few minutes this morning. He related the occasion of his meeting Hoshor in Alaska and his subsequent confidence in him, which led him to intrust the defendant with the large amount of money to look after his interests in Alaska. Torrence will continue with his testimony this afternoon. Other witnesses called were Lester Turner and J. A. Dingley, of the First National bank of Seattle.

Sues His Son-in-Law.

A jury in Judge Bell's department of the superior court, is hearing the case brought by Iman Ketas against his son-in-law, Samuel Cohn, to recover $850, $650 of which is alleged to have been loaned and the remainder is said to be the value of certain household articles, which the defendant appropriated to his own use.

Ketas says in his complaint that he loaned his son-in-law in December, 1897, the sum of $750, the receipt for which he has lost.

He says that only $100 was returned and there remains $650 unpaid. The plaintiff further states that shortly after the death of his wife last year Cohn dispossessed him of certain household furnishings for which he asks $200.

Another Sullivan Heir.

Another heir to the estate of the late John Sullivan appears in the person of Mrs. Mary Sullivan, of Butte, Mont. Yesterday Mrs. Sullivan filed a petition in the superior court asking that the court award her the estate. Mrs. Sullivan claims to be a cousin of the late John Sullivan. She says she is 66 years of age and has six children, whom she names in her petition.

Judge Tallman's department (4) of the superior court, was occupied today with the case of M. H. Young, suing Frank Borsone, to collect street grade taxes amounting to $180.

A SMITHY CHOPHOUSE.

A man of New York one day, in the country, toasted some meat over the forge of a blacksmith shop. He found to his surprise that the intense heat had broiled the chop or steak more quickly than did the range in his own house. It occurred to him that a chop house fashioned like a blacksmith's shop would be an extraordinary novelty. He thought the matter over, and evolved many details; at last he protected his ideas by copyrighting and patenting whatever he could. The project, as it now stands, involves the imitation of a smithy for a restaurant. The forges, worked with automatic bellows, are employed for preparing steaks, chops and kidneys. The anvils are hollow, and inside of the horns have a faucet from which malt liquors can be drawn at will. Steel bars are really hollow tubes through which mineral waters, wines, and other fluids can be drawn from barrels hidden in the garret or connected by a force pump with the cellar. A wooden horse serves as a closet in which bread and rolls can be kept warm and fresh for hours at a time. The plates are made of wood, but resemble pieces of a blacksmith's apron. The ingenious inventor proposes to raise capital and to erect smithy chophouses in all of the larger cities of the country.

When You Get Tired
Of being experimented on, call on us. We don't sell a pair of glasses just for the sake of making a sale. We don't allow the patient to decide which is the best. We have spent time and money learning "how" to fit glasses. We can and do improve on other opticians' work. H. CLAY EVERSOLE, 708 2d av, Seattle
