

MUST BUILD BULKHEAD ON SOUTH SIDE.

Freeholders Find the Ground on South Amboy Approach is Too Soft.

STATEN ISLAND BRIDGE.

Mr. Haney Stated that a Conference Between Interested Parties was Soon to be Held and Wanted the Board of Freeholders Represented—Other Matters Taken up.

New Brunswick, Oct. 8:—Director Fountain, at the meeting of the Board of Freeholders yesterday, reported that the contractors who are building the approach to the new Amboy bridge on the South Amboy side have discovered that on account of the condition of the land at the river edge a bulkhead must be built. The specifications for it show that it will be 5 feet high at the edge of the river, 60 feet wide, and will extend back 1,158 feet. The front of the bulkhead will be of hemlock piling. The county must pay the cost of this work, as Road Commissioner Budd has stated that it is not a part of the road for which the State is to pay. It was ordered that the bids for the work shall be received at the meeting to be held two weeks from yesterday.

Freeholder Haney, of Perth Amboy, called attention to the bridge which it has been suggested will be built from the Staten Island shore to the Jersey shore near Perth Amboy. He said that the President of the Borough of Manhattan, the President of the Borough of Richmond County, Totten, the Aldermen of Perth Amboy and the Chamber of Commerce of that place, were to have a conference on the subject and it was desired that Middlesex County be represented at the gathering. He therefore asked that the director appoint a committee to attend the meeting. He said that he thought the members appointed would serve without pay. The bridge will, of course, be paid for by two States, New Jersey and New York. The motion made by Mr. Haney was carried and the committee appointed by Director Fountain was: Messrs. Haney, Glenn, Johansen, Dunnigan, Welsh, DeHart and the director will act with it.

Bids for repainting the ironwork of the Landing bridge were received at 11 o'clock as follows:

Nicholas Thill.....$490
Sawyard O. Talmadge.....449

These bids were referred to the Landing Bridge Committee. One other bid was opened, but not read, as the bidder failed to present either a certified check for the required amount, or its equivalent in cash. Mr. Talmadge's bid was accompanied by $200 in cash.

Later the committee recommended that the contract be given to Mr. Talmadge, and the recommendation was adopted. He will begin the work immediately. Harry V. Oliver is superintendent for Contractor Talmadge.

A resolution was offered directing the County Buildings Committee to receive bids on October 14 for 70 tons of coal to be used in those buildings. Solicitor Willis advised that all bids for expenditures amounting to $200 or more should be received by the Board.

GOVERNOR AT JAMESBURG.

Is Inspecting the State Reform School Today—Several Senators there Also.

DRINKING ALLEGED.

Trenton, Oct. 8:—Governor Murphy is attending a meeting of the managers of the Jamesburg Reformatory today.

Recent stringent rules have been provided for the government of the working force at the institution and no doubt it is the idea of the Governor and other State officials to see how the instructions are being observed.

Senator E. C. Hutchinson is to meet the executive at Jamesburg. He said yesterday, however, that he was not aware of the purpose of the meeting to which he had received an invitation. It is understood that other members of the Senate will also be in attendance. It was admitted by Senator Hutchinson that there had been some trouble at the institution recently and that it was necessary to inform the guards that they must not enter saloons while on duty, under penalty of instant dismissal. Such infractions are said to have been of frequent occurrence until the Governor called a halt on the proceedings.

Authoritative reports have it that a detective in the guise of an assistant coachman, was employed for a time, in observing the general conduct of the under officers at the reformatory, and that he afterwards disclosed some rather deplorable conditions to the Governor and others in authority. Then it was that the executive interfered.

Most of the drinking in uniform is said to have been done while the guards were hunting the runaway boys, of whom there are said to have been a surprisingly large number, just prior to the appearance and departure of the detective. Whether there have been so many since, is probably one of the things the Governor wishes to inquire into today.

IRON STILL ON THE DRAW FOUNDATION.

Masonwork has Withstood the Weather During Several Storms

The 450 tons of pig iron are still on the foundation of the new Raritan river bridge. The contractor will not remove the iron for a few days yet.

When a man, who has watched the progress of the bridge since the day it was commenced, was asked what he thought of the test he said:

"There is no question but what the foundation for the draw is all that it should be for the pig iron has been on for a few weeks through all the storms and bad weather, and the foundation has not settled a bit. The pig iron itself is as heavy as the draw will be and there is little to be feared in regards to the weight now."

Daily Fashion Sheet.

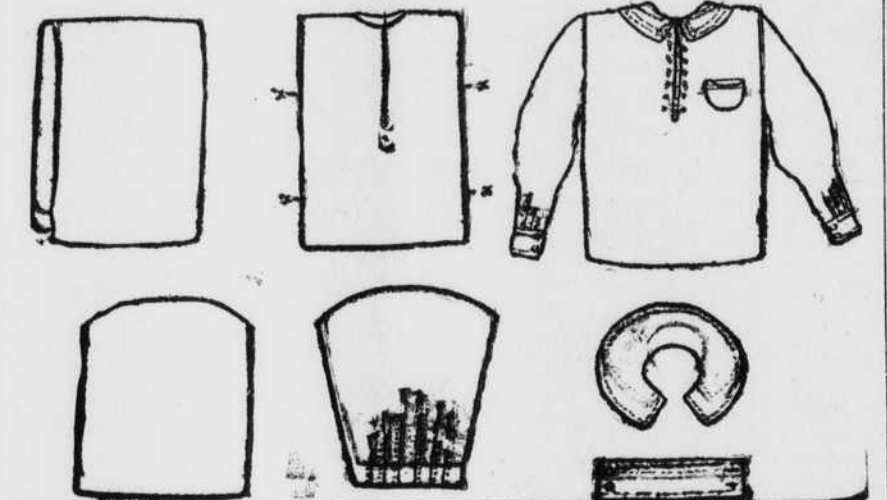

HOW TO MAKE THIS PRETTY SUIT FOR A SMALL BOY.

This is a suit for a small boy that no one, no matter how inexperienced they are in the art of sewing, need be afraid to attempt. There is no pattern required.

It is simply a piece of oblong material—old blue linen or Galatea makes a pretty suit—folded in two; a round is cut for the neck and a slit cut down the front. A space is left for the armholes, then the seams are sewed up, sewing from star to star, as in the illustration.

The sleeves are tucked at the wrist to give fullness. There is a plain stitched cuff and Eton collar. Eyelet holes are worked down the front, through which the white lacer is put. A small rounded pocket is stitched on the left side.

This smock is worn over bloomers, and belted with a black patent leather belt. This suit has a great deal of style and is something very new in design.

LENGTH OF THE SESSION.

The Extra Session of the Legislature Topic of Convention at Trenton.

FAVOR ONE OBJECT.

The extra session of the law-makers is one of the principal topics discussed at Trenton. It was the idea of President E. C. Hutchinson of the Senate that no other business, than the new school law, be allowed to come before the body and that the matter be disposed of in a couple of days.

He said if the members get together next Thursday and hold their caucus then it would be easily possible to adjourn until the following day, or Saturday, or even Monday, and clear up the whole situation then.

Others were of the opinion, however, that the cause of the failure of the last Legislature to appropriate money for the State Home for Consumptives and for the State School improvement, as provided in bills, passed by both houses, ought to be righted and thought there would be an insistent that these things be taken up.

The Governor said he did not know, yet, just what would be done, but like Senator Hutchinson, favored confining the session to the single purpose for which the members have been called. Senators Wakelee and Miller were with the Governor, a few minutes, as were also some members of the Lower House.

WOULD CALL CONVENTION.

Governor Murphy Favors a Revision of the Whole State Constitution.

PRESENT ONE TOO OLD.

Governor Franklin Murphy has expressed himself emphatically in favor of calling together a constitutional convention to revise the constitution of the state in every particular in which it has outgrown the conditions and methods in vogue at the time of its adoption.

The governor said the constitution of New Jersey today suited the conditions of sixty years ago, when it was drawn, but these conditions have so altered that its amendment is badly needed. The judiciary was particularly referred to by the governor as a portion of the instrument in which it fails to come up to present requirements.

Governor Murphy expressed himself in favor of the election of state senators on the basis of population, and of assemblymen from assembly districts.

Meyers, resides, and the contest is expected to be a lively one.

OYSTER GROWERS PUZZLED.

Wondering Where their Plants are Going to Come From.

Tuckerton, Oct. 8:—The situation which confronted the oyster planters at the opening of the seed oyster season, last week, has led many of them to wonder where they are going to obtain their plants in future years. At the "Graveling Beds," which are considered among the State's best beds, the catch was not worth going after, and many boats left without any attempt to gather the plants.

ORGANIZED LABOR.

The strike of the 250 boiler makers at the Springfield (Ill.) Boiler and Manufacturing Company's plant, which has a number of large government contracts, was settled yesterday.

Behind closed doors, at McKeesport, Pa., yesterday, General Manager George G. Crawford and Superintendent A. M. Saunders, of the National Tube Works, conducted a rigid investigation into the charges of collecting tribute by bosses of the mill. The inquiry is being continued today.

Five hundred employees of the Minnesota Iron Company, are out of work through the closing down indefinitely of the Soudan Mine near Tower, Minn. This is the first of the steel corporation's mines in Minnesota to cease operations.

For the first time since the disastrous strike of thirteen years ago when the coke miner's association was completely wiped out, efforts will be made this week to organize the 18,000 coke miners in the Connellsville region. There are 37,000 organized miners in the Pittsburgh district and 25,000 are being organized in the Irwin field of the district.

STORM STOPPED REVIEW.

West Point Camp, Ky., Visited by State Governors.

CAMP YOUNG, West Point, Ky., Oct. 8.—At the last moment the elements again caused the postponement of the division review, the one dress parade feature of the maneuvers for combined regulars and militia. A violent wind and rain storm which came up turned the parade grounds into a sea of mud so deep as to render it impossible for the commands to have maintained presentable alignments even had the storm abated.

Had the review taken place it would have been graced by the presence of the governors of Kentucky and Indiana. Governor Durbin has been in camp with the Indiana troops since last Saturday. Governor Beckham arrived from Louisville at noon and found two troops of the Seventh cavalry lined up ready to escort him to the camp of the Kentucky brigade. The Fourteenth battery of field artillery fired a salute of seventeen guns, after which Governor Beckham inspected the Kentucky militia drawn up in camp to receive him.
