Wives of Cattlemen Are Entertained by Ladies of Montgomery Tuesday

With the characteristic hospitality of the Montgomery hostess, the women composing the entertainment committee for the Southern Cattlemen's Association, met the wives of the convention visitors at an informal reception at the Gay-Teague hotel Tuesday morning and extended to them a most cordial welcome.

Despite the inclement weather good cheer prevailed throughout the day's entertainment, which consisted of the theatre party at the Grand theatre in the afternoon, followed by an informal social affair at Nettles.

Mrs. Belle Allen Ross, president of the City Federation of Women's Clubs and chairman of the entertainment comimttee, was the charming hostess at the matinee party, complimenting the visiting matrons and a number of Montgomerians. Among those present were: Mrs. F. H. Embry, of Louisville, Ky., Mrs. Will L. Kennett, of Louisville, Ky., Mrs. J. J. Brooks, of Louisville, Ky., Mrs. R. K. Boney, of Duckport, La., Mrs. W. D. Carrithers, of Louisville, Ky., Mrs. John W. Eldridge, of Gregory, Arkansas, Mrs. R. M. Gow, of Little Rock, Arkansas, Mrs. Berry, of Toledo, Ohio, Mrs. Ed Taylor, Mrs. L. E. Hobbie, Mrs. Leopold Strauss, Miss Sallie Morris, Mrs. Watt Cook, Mrs. Joseph Orum, Mrs. A. H. McNeal, Mrs. Harry Snow, Mrs. J. H. Crenshaw, and Mrs Ross.

Among the interesting features of the program for Wednesday afternoon will be the automobile ride through Montgomery, complimenting the visitors. The chairmen of this committee will be Mrs. William Marks and Mrs. Warren Tyson. The tour of the city and the suburbs will begin promptly at 3 o'clock from the Exchange Hotel and at the conclusion the guests will be entertained at an informal tea at the Country Club.

AMUSEMENTS

AT THE EMPIRE

If the statement of an eminent psychologist is to be taken seriously, that nine out of every ten people in this great big world are made miserable because of the fear of superstition in one form or another, Douglas Fairbanks is doomed to be a mighty gloomy young man for the balance of his natural days.

Doug may not have the regulation Ph.D., on his calling cards and it is certain that he never delved very deeply along the lines of belief in supernatural agencies; however, he disagrees with the learned student and in reply his theory has taken a broadside at superstition in every phase, counting it out for the full ten units in his forthcoming production, "When the Clouds Roll By," which will be the feature at the Empire Theatre today.

It may be that the dynamic one is the tenth of one of the particular short dozen embraced by the doctor's remarks because Doug hasn't lost even a suggestion of the wrinkles in his smile, despite his very harsh treatment of the numerous agencies involved in the superstition clan.

The "Big Four" star indulges in every conceivable phase of superstition recorded in the jinx docket and in his unique manner disproves the penalties which have long been established facts in the minds of the other nine." It remains to be seen what will happen to one who merely teases along at superstition to show the ridiculousness of it all, but if something unexpected happens, well—insurance companies take notice.

"HITCHY KOO."

The only reason that critics don't shower more praise upon "Hitchy Koo" is because they have already praised this remarkable musical comedy production to such good purpose, that their supply of adjectives has become utterly exhausted. "A Stage Circus" is the way in which they have distinguished this show from all the other good ones, and they add that it has the edge on any three-ring circus you've ever seen, in a odzen different ways, principal among them being the delightful spectacular and pleasing combination of music, vaudeville specialties, girls, elaborate scenery,—and more girls and vaudeville.

Instead of one extra special comedian, "Hitchy Koo" carries five of these always popular entertainers, whose line of fun never appears to be exhausted and who are working every minute. Largely through the efforts of the comedy experts, wherever "Hitchy Koo" has appeared the audience is furnished but few respites from laughter during the entire performance, and these are granted only that some particularly clever song or instrumental number may be fully appreciated. Best of all the comedy is high-class, clean, and indescribably clever, so that the effect is entirely wholesome and rejuvenating. The girls, and there were many of them, are all pretty, all trained artists and all stunningly gowned. Novelty features the entire production, the kind of novelty that is so rare and therefore is always the trade-mark of a successful show.

The action which is bright, laughable and full of life, is divided into fifteen periods, some of the most enjoyable being: "The Wedding Ceremony," by Artie Leeming, Mabel DeForrest, Jim DeForrest, John Cunningham and Joe Haw; "A Photograph Gallery," by Stan Stanley, Frank Cornell and others, "The Modern School," "Country Store," "The Jazz Circus," and "Too Full of Words."

"Hitchy Koo" is replete with tuneful songs that you'll remember, sung by Miss Cunningham, the pretty, prima donna, and Vera Gray, a petite and attractive comedienne.

"HITCHY KOO" IS FAR FAMED FARCE

The one best bet of the whole theatrical season, so far as musical comedies are concerned, is "Hitchy Koo"—that far-famed hodge podge of fun, music and girls which Raymond Hitchcock and Martin Sampter will unfold at the Grand, Wednesday, Matinee and night, January 28.

The fact that this production of "Hitchy Koo" is guaranteed the original one, direct from the record-breaking run of two solid years in New York with scenery and costumes absolutely intact, probably accounts for the extraordinary interest this city is taking in the engagement here. In any event it looks now as if "Hitchy Koo" would be greeted by the biggest audience that has turned out to see a road attraction in this city since before the war.

The audience is requested to be in the theatre not later than 8:10 as owing to the magnitude of the production the curtain will raise promptly at 8:15—and before this happens a surprise in the midst of the audience itself, a "stunt" that is said to be quite the funniest thing ever conceived in the brain of a musical comedy creator.

Home Manicuring Lessons

By WR. WM. G. KORONY
Lesson No. 3

Now that you have been successful in removing overhanging cuticle, hangnails and ragged skin from around the nails without harmful cutting or scraping by use of Simplex Cuticle Remover, and have given the tips of the nails that pearly white outline with Simplex Nail Whitener, the next step is polishing and tinting.

In order to obtain a quick, lasting, waterproof polish of a delicate tint, the Simplex Nail Paste (pink), or if you prefer not to tint the nails, use Simplex Nail Paste (uncolored). Apply it with the tip of finger and polish the nails briskly with the palm of hand. If you desire an extremely high polish use Simplex Nail Enamel (cake form) in connection with the Nail Paste. This is applied to the palm and each nail polished briskly. No buffer is required and the polish is not only waterproof, but extremely lasting. If you prefer a nail enamel in powder form I recommend Simplex Nail Bright. It is put up in a dainty little sifter top tube and is easily carried in the purse or handbag.

My next lesson will appear in an early issue of this paper. If you are confronted with any obstacle regarding your nails write me and I shall gladly advise you. Dr. Wm. G. Korony, 108 West Main St., Louisville, Ky.—(Adv.)

MEREDITH SUCCEEDS SECRETARY HOUSTON

Wilson Names Missourian as Treasury Chief; Cabinet Shake-Ups Have Been Many

(Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27—Two more changes in President Wilson's cabinet were made today and a third is expected in the near future.

David Franklin Houston, of St. Louis Mo., who has been secretary of agriculture since the beginning of the Wilson administration, was given the treasury portfolio and Edwin L. Meredith, of Des Moines, Iowa, was named to succeed him as head of the department of agriculture.

The third cabinet change soon is the appointment of Secretary of the Interior to succeed Franklin K. Lane, who desires to retire to private life. Mr. Lane's successor has not yet been selected and officials generally would not hazard a guess as to whom it would be.

Inselecting Mr. Houston to succeed Carter Glass as secretary of the treasury, the president ran counter to all guesses of administration officials, most of whom had expected assistant Secretary Leffingwell to be given the office.

In chosing Mr. Meredith to succeed Mr. Houston, the president selected a practical farmer as well as a business man. Mr. Meredith is the editor of "Successful Farming" and before establishing that paper was publisher of the "Farmers' Tribune." He is president of the Associated Advertising clubs of the World, a director of the Chicago Federal Reserve Bank and was one of the excess profits advisers of the treasury department appointed in 1917.

In a statement today at Miami, Fla., Mr. Meredith said one of his first undertakings as head of the agriculture department would be to work out some method of getting crops to market "without too much lost motion." He is expected in Washington within a day or two to take up his duties.

Meantime Mr. Houston will succeed Mr. Glass who will take his seat in the Senate to fill the unexpired term of the late Senator Martin, of Virginia, after serving as Secretary of the Treasury for a little more than a year.

When Secretary Lane passes out of the cabinet only four of the president's original official family will remain Besides Mr. Houston, they are Secretary Daniels, of the Navy Department; Secretary Wilson of the Labor Department, and Postmaster General Burleson.

Mr. Wilson had two secretaries of state—W. J. Bryan and Robert Lansing; two secretaries of war—Lindley M. Garrison and Newton D. Baker; three attorneys general—James Clark McReynolds, now an associated justice of the supreme court; Thomas Watt Gregory, and A. Mitchell Palmer, two secretaries of commerce—William C. Redfield and James W. Alexander, and three secretaries of the treasury—William G. McAdoo, Carter Glass, and David F. Houston.

HARTFORD SOCIETY

Mesdames W. M. Lanier, J. P. Strickland and Horace Hutchison entertained at a lovely reception at the home of the last mentioned Friday afternoon from 4 to 6 p. m. in honor of Mrs. J. V. Harrison, one of Hartford's most popular young matrons, who is leaving for Samson, where she will make her home her husband having been elected to a responsible position in one of the banks at that place.

The home of the hostess was very beautifully decorated for the occasion in lovely cut flowers and rare ferns and potted plants. Both instrumental and vocal music was very charmingly rendered by Miss Myrtle Taylor and Mrs. Lula Mae Block during the afternoon. Nearly one hundred guests called during the hours.

The hostesses were assisted by Mesdames L. A. Voss, E. G. Mack, A. P. Chanch, D. L. Watson, G. W. Williamson, G. L. Fisher and C. F. Davis who served the many guests with dainty refreshments. The guests all wrote their names in a specially prepared book which was presented to Mrs. Harrison as a souvenir of the occasion.

Wednesday night, the ladies of the Methodist Missionary Society called upon Mrs. J. D. Preston at her home and presented her with a beautiful piece of silver, as a parting gift and a token of their love and esteem for her, also resolutions of regret at having to lose so valuable a member. Mrs. Preston and her husband are moving to Wauchula, Fla., and she was one of the charter members of the society.

POLICEMAN FACES TRIAL FOR MURDER

Smith, killed a few days ago while resisting arrest and who shot Robinson in the shoulder before falling under the fire of the officer. LADIES! SECRET TO DARKEN GRAY HAIR

Bring back color, gloss and youthfulness with Grandma's recipe of Sage and Sulphur

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea, with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use preparation improved by the addition of other ingredients a large bottle at little cost, at drug stores, known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," thus avoiding a lot of muss.

While gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally and evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through the hair, taking one small, strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disapepared. After another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant and you appear years younger.

CATTLEMEN HEAR PASTURE SUBJECTS

Lambert, Duggar and Tabor Address Visiting Livestock Men Tuesday Night

Pastures and grazing formed the chief subject of discussion at the Tuesday night session of the Southern Cattlemen's Convention. The speakers were R. C. Lambert, Darlington, Ala., Dr. J. F. Duggar, Auburn and Paul Tabor, of the Georgia State Agricultural College. The subject of winter and summer grazing and the proper methods of proper seed planting for pastures was discussed with the citation of practical cases. An informal discussion followed the address of each speaker and the meeting rounded itself into a general conference on pasture and feed production.

Mr. Lambert based his subject on the results secured by him through practical experience. He stressed the possibility of lengthening the grazing season and cutting down the feeding period. At the conclusion of his address he answered many questions on grazing and stock feeding.

Dr. Duggar spoke on "Pasture and Hay Crops in Southern States." Prof. Tabor of the Georgia college followed along the same lines as the other speakers reviewing the result of practical experiences of the agricultural experts of Georgia on grazing and feed production.

The meeting Tuesday night was held following a visit of many of the delegates to the farm of McQueen Smith in Autauga county.

CATTLEMEN GREET OWNER OF CHAMPION HEREFORD "BONNIE J."

E. E. Mack, must feel happy over the reception the members of the Southern Cattlemen's Association gave him at the opening session of the eight annual convention, Tuesday morning. Mr. Mack is owner of "Bonnie J." grand champion Hereford bull of the world. He was called on Tuesday morning to acknowledge the appreciation of the cattlemen of the South for the service he had rendered the South in presenting the champion bull at the Chicago International Livestock exhibition.

When Mr. Mack stepped on the platform he was greeted with cheers and hand-claps that lasted for sometime. He is a modest man and acknowledged the applause of his fellow-members by telling in a simple way how he won the prize:

"We raised a good calf. He was a good feeder. We had a good bull from the time he started until he won the big prize at Chicago. We were offered a fabulous sum for the animal after he had copped the prize, but we would not sell because we figured that he was good enough to make money for somebody else he was good enough to raise good cattle for the South."

On these blanks, the Probate Judge will issue authority for exemption, which will be presented by the ex-service man to the registrar, in order that the name of the applicant may be included in the list of qualified electors in each county.
