BEACHFEUD PAID FIREMEN STARSFOLKS IF CO'S. QUIT, AT REHOBOTH COUNCIL PLAN

Health Commissioner Wells Swears Out Warrant for Mrs. Margaret Hans

ASSAULTED TWO GIRLS, HE SAYS

While many of the seashore resorts are agog over the wearing of one-piece bathing suits, Rehoboth, Delaware's only ocean resort has provided another thriller for summer boarders, but in this case it happens to be a beach feud between the summer boarders.

An aftermath of the squabble is expected to be staged at Lewes next Saturday when a warrant sworn out by Chester H. Wells, State Health Commissioner, will be served on Mrs. Margaret Hans, a Baltimore, Md., society woman, in case she visits Rehoboth, that day.

The warrant charges Mrs. Hans with assault and battery on two small girls and the outrages of the case is being watched with interest by residents of Rehoboth and Lewes. According to Mr. Wells, Mrs. Hans left Rehoboth abruptly last Monday before the warrant had been issued and he served on her.

Officials of Rehoboth are alleged to have taken sides with Mrs. Hans. Mr. Wells said today they not only refused to cause her arrest on a charge of disorderly conduct and also called Magistrate N. B. Register, of Lewes, on the telephone, and told him he had no right to issue a warrant for Mrs. Hans on any charge where the alleged offense was committed in Rehoboth.

The warrant was issued at Lewes last Monday morning following a ride in that town from Rehoboth by Mr. Wells and a Mrs. Widmer, of Philadelphia, whose child, aged 9 years, is alleged to have been shaken by Mrs. Hans. Mr. Wells also alleges that Mrs. Hans slapped Elizabeth Hart, aged 10 years, in the face. The Hart child is visiting Mr. Wells' family at the resort.

In speaking of the trouble today Mr. Wells said that last Sunday morning (Continued on Page Two.)

SERIOUS LOSS FOR DEMOCRATS

League Members Mourn Disappearance of 'Bum,' Pet Fox Terrier

FOUND STARVING WAS GIVEN HOME

Practically every member of the Democratic League is grieving over the loss of "Bum." He was the most popular member of the league and especially fond of automobiles and motor boat riding. He was often the companion of members who owned automobiles in rides through the city and country.

"Bum" is a dog, black and white fox terrier. He was brought to the home of the league 6th French street by Edward Stewart, a member on Thanksgiving Day last year. Mr. Stewart found the dog on the pier of the Christiana river jetty that day (Continued on Page Two.)

SEES NO REASON FOR DR. RICHEY'S NOTE

The Rev. Alfred L. Jones, curate of Trinity Protestant Church, said today that he is somewhat puzzled to understand the protest made by the Rev. Alban Richey, rector of St. John's Church, against the union services held at Washington Heights every Sunday evening.

"I do not see why Dr. Richey had any reason to address an open letter to Trinity Church regarding its participation in the open-air services," says Mr. Jones. "We have not engaged in the services this year and do not anticipate engaging in them. If any of our parishioners have gone to the park services or engaged in them they did it upon their own initiative. We cannot prohibit that, of course."

BURGLARS GOT FUNERAL MONEY TELEGRAPHERS REJECT AWARD

This Is Defense of James H. Still, Trenton, Charged With Embezzlement

HELD UNDER BAIL FOR COUNTY COURT

James H. Still, of Trenton, N. J., surprised court officials in City Court today when he related how he withdrew his money from a bank to send to creditors here by parcel post, and that it was stolen. When asked how much money he planned to ship he said about $200 to defray funeral expenses of his sister, Annie M. Moore.

Still was charged with the embezzlement of $438 from the estate of his sister, Annie M. Moore. The warrant was sworn out by Leonard E. Wales, attorney who testified he not only went on Still's bond as administrator of his sister's estate, but arranged for him to draw the money from the bank account of the deceased to pay wages of a trained nurse and the undertaker.

Still in his own behalf, said after drawing the money from a Trenton bank to send by parcel post, a robbery broke into his home and stole the money. This, he said, prevented him from paying the bills presented by the creditors against his sister's estate.

Deputy Judge Finger held Still under $500 bail for the upper court.

Children's Camp May Close Unless Wilmington Wakes Up

Rob and Dick are twins, 10 years old, whose father has just died after a year's illness. There are two other children, and it is difficult for the hard-working mother to make both ends meet. The only chance for a country visit that the twins have is to get to the Children's Camp, in beautiful Beaver Valley. There they will have plenty to eat, as much milk as they can drink daily, swimming in the creek, apples from the orchard and lots of play and fun. Their names are on the list and they are waiting eagerly. But alas! Rob and Dick are facing, perhaps, a great disappointment, for the camp may be forced to close for lack of funds before their turn comes.

Tom has a little sister, who will never walk. He is only 10 years old, but he takes a great deal of care of her. His father is not strong enough to earn much, and his hard-working mother has often to leave him in charge. Tom is really the business manager of the family in many ways, because he is the only one of the household who can speak English. So his responsibilities have made him old beyond his years. He is a very gentle, serious little boy and he needs a vacation. He needs play and comrades of his own age. All this the Children's Camp will give him, if it can manage to keep open all summer.

Helen and May are two little sisters, who have had scarlet fever, and need country air and good food now that they are getting well. Their mother is making a brave struggle to keep her family of seven together, and give them a good start. If the camp continues, it can take in not only Helen and May, but two of the others, taking them all out of the heat and dirt of the city and building up their health. Never has the camp been more needed by more children than this year. But its expenses for food and transportation are higher this year, and so far it has not received as much as usual, probably because people have not thought about it, for Wilmington is a generous city. The committee in charge feel that all that is needed is to tell these facts, and that many kind hearts will respond. All gifts, small and large, are alike welcome, and every dollar will help Rob and Tom and Helen and dozens of other boys and girls to a happy time in lovely Beaver Valley this summer.

Who will join in to make their hopes come true? George S. Capelle, Jr., is the treasurer for the camp, and gifts can also be left at 602 West street or at the office of The Evening Journal.

Don't forget the wise old proverb: "He who gives quickly, gives double."

70-YEAR-OLD WHITE WOMAN IS ATTACKED BY NEGRO

SMYRNA, Del., July 22.—A Mrs. Twilley, a white woman, aged 70 years, living on a farm in Blackbird hundred, was seriously assaulted by a young Negro at her farm this morning.

Not only did the Negro beat her, but it is alleged he feloniously assaulted the aged woman after he overpowered her. Mrs. Twilley lives at Dexter's Corner, a short distance over the New Castle county line. The aged woman lived alone, and so far as can be learned the Negro attacked her this morning at her home.

She was beaten in submission by him and assaulted, here, but after the assault, Chief of Police Lee Cochran and Joseph Broadway, night watchman, were notified by farmers of the assault. They tracked a strange Negro from the Twilley home, and overtook him near Kenton, where he was arrested.

According to Chief Cochran, Mrs. Twilley identified the young Negro, who said he was from Virginia, as her assailant.

He was brought to Smyrna, but feeling became so intense among residents that Chief Cochran departed with his prisoner hurriedly for the New Castle County Workhouse early this afternoon, without even leaving behind a record of the man's name or Mrs. Twilley's first name.

Mrs. Twilley is reported to be in a serious condition as a result of the assault.

YOUNG PEOPLE ON PICNIC TODAY

Valentine's farm, on the Lancaster turnpike, was invaded today by a pleasure seeking army made up of 150 girls, small children and mothers, who are the chief users of the Madison street playground, in this city.

It was through the interest of P. A. Monis, an official of the Standard Milk Manufacturing Company, that the pleasant invasion was made possible. His office is opposite the playground. Observation had interested him so much in the efforts of the children to make fun for themselves, that when the excursion to the Valentine farm was proposed, he said he would furnish auto trucks, and other things needed for the enjoyment of the children and their mothers.

George W. Bader, another friend of the playground project, has donated tennis balls and baseballs for the use of those who find recreation at third and Madison streets. There will be a flag-raising there the latter part of this month. The money needed to purchase the pole is largely in hand.

LINSE BONG, Chinese laundryman at 2118 Market street, was fined $5 and costs by Magistrate Harry B. Stradley, this morning, for an assault on Rose Terranova, aged 5 years, 2107 Market street.

The Chinaman said at the hearing he had been greatly annoyed by children in the neighborhood who threw dirt in his laundry. This morning a number congregated on the sidewalk and some one threw dirt on a lot of clean laundry. He ran out and grabbed the child and shook her, the others making their escape.

RETURN OF AMERICA TO GOVERNMENT BY PEOPLE IS PLEDGE OF G. O. P. NOMINEE

SPURNS PACT THAT WOULD SPILL BLOOD

Lodge, Too, Denounces League That Would Mean Frequent War for America

REPUBLICANS FOR WORLD PEACE COURT

MARION, O., July 22 (United Press).—Henry Cabot Lodge today in his speech notifying Senator Warren G. Harding of his nomination for President on the Republican ticket this afternoon denounced the league of nations covenant submitted by President Wilson as "another name for the evil combination which was attempted a hundred years ago by the ill-fated Holy Alliance."

"It is not for us to enumerate and dictate to you the questions which must be dealt with," Lodge said, "for it is to you that we look to set forth the proper policies to be pursued by the Republican party both in the campaign, when charged with the responsibility of administration and legislation."

Lodge spoke at length on the league question and praised Harding for his conspicuous part in the defeat of the league as written. "We have been and are quite ready to join in agreement with other nations for the extension of the Hague convention, for the upbuilding and codification of international law, and the establishment of a world court of justice; for international conferences in regard to non-justifiable questions and for arrangements (Continued on Page Two.)

SMITH SAYS COP TESTS ARE FAIR

"We are going to recruit the police force to a three-platoon standard just as rapidly as is possible. Council has given us authority to do so, and has assured us that the money for the increased number of men will be forthcoming."

This declaration was made today by S. Smith, president of the Board of Police Commissioners. He made it in response to a question whether he had heard of talk among some members of the present force that the examinations of applicants were being conducted so as to hold down the number of men accepted and thus prevent adoption of an eight-hour day schedule.

AWOKE IN TIME TO HALT BURGLAR

An attempt was made to break into the home of Walter R. Coale, 230 West Seventeenth street, at an early hour yesterday morning, but the thief was scared away before gaining an entrance.

Between the hours of 3 and 4 yesterday morning, Miss Sarah Myers, who occupies a second-story front room at Mr. Coale's, heard some one working at one of the lower front windows and aroused Mr. Coale.

Going down stairs as quietly as possible Mr. Coale saw a man working at the window, and he jumped from the porch and running across the street, disappeared up an alley.

This same section was visited only a few weeks ago and five houses broken into, while attempts were made to gain entrance to several others.

Ohio Senator, In Accepting Republican Nomination, Condemns 'Personal Dictatorial and Autocratic Government'—Accepts Wilson's Challenge for Referendum on President League Covenant—Urges New Pact Based on Justice Rather Than Force—'No Man Big Enough to Run This Great Republic,' He Says

MUST ENFORCE VOLSTEAD LAW, WOULD CONTINUE HIGH WAGES

(By Raymond Clapper, United Press Staff Correspondent.)
MARION, O., July 22.—Immediate declaration of peace and a new effort to form an association of all nations, based on justice rather than force was promised by Warren G. Harding if elected President of the United States in informally accepting the Republican nomination here today.

Scoring the League of Nations covenant as the "supreme blunder," he lauded the Senators who opposed its unequal ratification as "sentinels on the towers of constitutional government." The nominee said he welcomed a referendum.

Senator Harding opened his address with a broadside against "personal, dictatorial and autocratic government."

"Our first commitment," he continued, "is the restoration of representative popular government under the constitution through the agency of the Republican party."

The speech, delivered at Garfield Park here, dealt with a multitude of questions. Preserved nationally with America continuing her independence, although not holding aloof from the rest of the world should be the guiding policy, Senator Harding declared.

The candidate stressed the necessity of a return to party government and pledged himself to co-operate cordially with Congress and to select a cabinet of "highest capacity" in which the Vice-President should sit.

As to prohibition there is divided opinion and the recourse to repeal or modification is open, but "we cannot nullify because of divided opinion," he said, and the law must be enforced.

"We must have a plain and neighborly understanding with Mexico, regarding American rights, but our relations should be friendly and sympathetic," he said.

Touching on unrest, he said the remedy does not lie in repression and assembly must be preserved.

High wages should continue, but with them full value for the wage received, he said. Collective bargaining was endorsed.

Senator Harding pledged a sincere effort to stamp out profiteering. Reaffirming his opposition to government ownership of railroads he declared the present transportation difficulties are due partly to "the withering hand of government operation," and urged that the government do its part in repairing the damage. He endorsed the budget plan, a merchant marine, naval preparedness and a small army, abundant aid for exercise men and women suffrage.

As to formal peace, Senator Harding said: "I promise you formal and effective peace so quickly as a Republican Congress can pass its declaration for a Republican executive to sign."

Senator Harding said: "Chairman Lodge, members of the notification committee, members of the National committee, ladies and gentlemen: The message which you have formally conveyed brings to me a realization of responsibility which I feel in response to a duty, a supreme task to interpret the covenant of a great political party, the activities of which are so woven into the life of this republic, and a very sacred and solemn undertaking to utter the faith and aspirations of the many millions who adhere to that party. The party platform has charted the way, yet, somehow, we have come to expect that interpretation which voices the faith of nominees who must assume specific tasks."

"Let me be understood clearly from the very beginning. I believe in party government as distinguished from personal government, individual, dictatorial, autocratic or what not. In a citizenship of more than a hundred millions it is impossible to reach agreement upon all questions. Parties are formed by the way, yet, somehow, we have come to expect that interpretation which voices the faith of nominees who must assume specific tasks."

Party leaders today, however, continued efforts to have Bryan change his attitude and make the race.

The nomination of Bryan came after the party's program and provisions had been upset. Nominations were scheduled for Friday, May 10, at Bryan's permanent headquarters of the convention, started a stampede for the Governor when he offered a resolution putting his name in nomination. State standards immediately were uprooted and a demonstration started.

Nomination by acclamation followed. Bryan today was vacationing in Minnesota. Clinton Howard, however, (Continued on Page Two.)
