HARDING SENDS NOTE TO WOOD

He Withdraws From Ohio Senatorial Race

WASHINGTON, June 16.—Senator Warren G. Harding today replied to a telegram of congratulations sent him by Major General Leonard Wood, defeated candidate for the republican presidential honors.

"I know that we are both interested in the same great good to our common cause," Harding wrote, "and I feel confident that you will be very deeply interested in bringing about a restoration of a republican party administration in Washington and a return to the constitutional methods of government which were the concept of the founding fathers."

The letter to Wood followed a statement which Wood gave out yesterday in reply to Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler's charges about Wood's campaign managers. In this statement Wood said Butler was trying to "ingratiate himself with certain elements which exercised a determining influence at the convention."

Crucible Steel was strong at times in anticipation of dividend action at today's meeting of the directors. The rails gave a good account of themselves, considering the lighty olume of transactions.

"Reading, Northern Pacific, Great Northern and Union Pacific were the strongest features in the railroad department, while only one or two of the more inactive issues were under pressure.

"The list was narrow and sluggish to a degree toward the closing."

LOCAL CHERRIES REACH MARKET

Currents Also Reach Seattle Market

The first local cherries of the season made their appearance on Western ave. Wednesday morning. A tentative price of 25 cents for Royal Annes and 35 cents for Bings was quoted. A few pie cherries came in also.

Another new arrival was a small shipment of currents from Eastern Washington.

With several carloads of new potatoes from California expected to arrive during the day, the few old spuds to be found on the street were quoted at $210 a ton, an advance of $10 over night. The demand for them continues strong.

Flour was quoted at $13.95 per 100 pounds, but it is predicted that an upward tendency may become apparent about Friday.

On account of the late season this year, jobbers anticipate that the stock of old apples will be entirely depleted before the new fruit begins to come in.

Cantaloupes still flood the market.
