PRESIDENT WILL SUBMIT DEFEATED TREATY TO THE
NEXT SESSION OF CONGRESS

SPECIAL SESSION ADJOURNS
MANY MEASURES TO BE DIS-
POSED OF BY COMING SESSION
WHICH CONVENES IN DECEM-BER; TREATY STUMBLING BLOCK

By RAYMOND CLAPPER
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)
Washington, Nov. 20.—President Wilson is expected to submit the beaten peace treaty to the next session of congress starting December 1 in another attempt to obtain ratification.

The treaty is dead today so far as the senate is concerned. It went back to the president following failure of ratification voted at the spectacular final session last night. The Lodge resolution containing reservations was turned down 41 to 51. The resolution of unqualified ratification was defeated 38 to 53.

Senator Hitchcock, who handled the administration forces during the long fight just ended, declared today Wilson would submit the treaty to the next session.

Compromises will then be heard on the basis of the Lodge reservations slightly modified, republican senators of the "mild reservationists" group said today.

Failure to ratify at the special session marked the end of the first sitting of a new republican congress which began May 29 and which failed to enact a program of domestic legislation to put the country on a peace time basis.

The most pressing problems on which congress failed act are:

Return of the army on a peace time basis, repeal of the war time luxury tax, establishment of a merchant marine policy, opening of the public lands for soldier settlement, and the opening up of oil and coal lands, government control of meat packing industry and revision of the court martial system.

When congress comes back December 1 action on these measures will still be blocked until the treaty is disposed of.

Senate leaders expect to push to the front action on the treaty to clear the way for domestic legislation. Early next year the national campaign will be in shape and the republican congress wants to be ready to face the country with most of its proposed domestic legislations enacted.

BANDIT STOPS
FOR INFORMATION

CARLISLE ENTERS NEWSPAPER OFFICE TO INQUIRE HOW CHASE PROGRESSING

Denver, Nov. 20.—William Carlisle today had outwitted seven posesses and a troop of United States cavalry following his escape from the Rawlins penitentiary in a wood en box.

The latest authentic clue came from Casper, Wyoming, where he is said to have entered a newspaper office and nervily inquired how the chase was progressing.

Remain On Lookout

Medicine Bow, Nov. 20.—Cavalry and railroad detectives remained here today on the lookout for William Carlisle, train robber and escaped convict.

With snow beginning to fall the bloodhounds from the Rawlins penitentiary became useless today and were taken back to the prison.

None of the hunters are making any loud claims of catching Carlisle soon. Authorities admitted a long pursuit.

Carlisle's sentence is almost certain to be death if he is caught alive, as train robbery is a capital punishment in Wyoming.

With the bandit fully aware of the future awaiting him, he is expected to make a desperate stand before he is taken. On the other hand officials believe that he will not resist arrest at the hands of any large number of crack riflemen.

WILSON STARTS ORGANIZING NEW INDUSTRIAL BODY

Washington, Nov. 20.—President Wilson today dispatched invitations to seventeen men to constitute an industrial commission. The formation of this body has been considered for several weeks.

A new commission will meet in Washington December 1.

HARDING ASKS
STATE TO SEIZE
ALL COAL MINES

Des Moines, Nov. 20.—Governor W. L. Harding of Iowa today wired governors of the soft coal producing states recommending state seizure and operation of the mines in an effort to end the miners strike. To induce miners to return to work Governor Harding suggested the states grant the strikers a 60 per cent wage increase. The telegrams were sent to the chief executives of Illinois, Indiana, Missouri, Kentucky, Tennessee, West Virginia, Pennsylvania, Kansas and Iowa.

THOMAS NELSON
LEAGUE OPPONENTS

By THOMAS NELSON PAGE
Former Ambassador To Italy
(Written for the United Press)

Washington, Nov. 20.—I consider defeat of the peace treaty as an immeasurable misfortune. On those who defeated the treaty lies the most terrible responsibility which any man has assumed. Its effect must be to plunge Europe into even a deeper chaos from which America can hardly escape and those who were against the treaty and league of nations were Germans, I. W. W. and bolsheviks. Those who have just killed the treaty, however sincere their motive, have given them cause for great rejoicing.

None maintained that the treaty or league of nations was perfect but everyone knows in his heart that it was a better treaty and sanction than was the hope for one year ago.

CITIZENSHIP DENIED
MINERS WHO FAILED TO OBEY COURT ORDER

Clerk of the District Court F. E. Lenhart is in receipt of a decision of the circuit court of Montgomery county, Ill., in the matter of the petition of George Bachochin to be admitted a citizen of the United States. The petitioner, a miner, who went on strike recently, failed to return to work following the order of the U. S. district court at Indianapolis, following which his application was contested by Edward W. Tobin, U. S. naturalization examiner, the court upholding the objection of Tobin and denying the petition. Twenty-one other petitions of a similar nature were also denied by the court on the same ground.

Tobin, U. S. naturalization, has frequently visited Beatrice on matters connected with the bureau and examined applicants for final papers at the June term of the district court here.

STILL APART

CONTENDING FACTIONS SEEM FARTHER FROM AGREEMENT
AS NATION BEGINS TO FEEL
FUEL SHORTAGE; SOUTHERN CONSUMERS ON RATIONS

By RALPH F. COUCH
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

Washington, Nov. 20.—Coal operators and miners seemed farther from agreement here today as the nation begins to feel the fuel shortage. As members of the wage scale committee prepared to go into executive session on this, the sixth day of their conference, reports reached government sources of the closing of plants in the middle west for lack of fuel.

In the south domestic consumers are on a basis of one ton to a household given out by the regional rationing committee of the railroad administration. Despite optimistic views of officials of the labor department that differences would be settled within a few days, few of the 400,000 miners who struck November 1 have gone back to work.

Operators in conference here are delaying negotiations on the question of a wage scale it was learned today, and are insisting that John Lewis, president of the united mine workers, make a new attempt to get the men back to the mines.

BARNESTON REPORTS

Frank Malicky, member of the constitutional convention, reported to State Auditor Marsh Wednesday that Keeler Brothers of Denver, the bond dealers who are in trouble with state authorities over certain activities of salesmen, had turned the same trick on school district No. 65 at Barneston, in Gage county. As voted the bonds carried an optional payment clause and annual interest. When they came back from the brokers Mr. Malicky says they carried semi-annual interest and no optional clause.—Lincoln Evening Journal.

CHARGES HUSBAND
FORCED HER TO SIGN
DRAFT EXEMPTION

Isaac Owens, an employee of the Burlington at Wymore, is made the defendant in a suit for divorce filed in district court this morning by Mary A. Owens, to whom he was married in Pawnee county in March, 1905.

The plaintiff, among other things, alleges that on November 1, 1918, the defendant, by threats and surges, compelled the plaintiff to sign an affidavit and make claim for exemption in a questionnaire under the U. S. draft law, the defense having been drafted for military service. The plaintiff charges that the defendant threatened to kill her if she would not sign.

The plaintiff also charges Owens with extreme cruelty, the use of personal violence and referring to her in an obscene manner, alleging that during the past two years his action became so abusive that she was compelled to leave her home and go to the home of her daughter in Wymore in November of this year.

The plaintiff alleges that the defendant is the owner of real estate worth $2,500, has liberty bonds and money in the bank and other property valued at $9,000. She asks for a divorce, suitable alimony and the custody of the minor child. Gen. L. W. Colby appears as her attorney.

ENFORCE HEALTH RULES

Dr. H. H. Wilson of the state board of health was in the city today conferring with local officials relative to the necessity of prompt reports from physicians as to contagious diseases. Dr. Wilson met with Mayor B. C. Heffelfinger and Chief of Police Dillow this afternoon. Superintendent of School Stoddard and Miss Biebescheimer also being present. A strict compliance of the law in cases of a contagious character is to be insisted upon by the local board.

NATION'S EYES
RIVETED ON WHITE HOUSE

FRIENDS OF PRESIDENT DO NOT BELIEVE HE WILL SWAL-
LOW DEFEAT ON PEACE
TREATY; WORKING ON STATE
MENT TO THE PEOPLE

By HUGH BAILEY
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

Washington, Nov. 20.—The nation's attention was riveted on the white house today for the next move in the peace treaty battle.

Friends of President Wilson could not believe he would swallow defeat on the peace treaty and league of nations, in the interest of which he has already sacrificed his health.

The president, it was understood today, is working on his statement to the people telling them that a chaos confronts the world as the result of the treaty failure and that it was going the way the bolsheviks and Germany wanted it to putting the blame on leaders of the opposition in the senate. His hot test shot will be made, it is believed in his message to the regular session of congress December 1, to which he intends to submit the treaty. His first move was expected to be a formal withdrawal of the treaty from congress, where it has been layed on the table so that it can be presented again. Failure of the treaty knocked the ground from under hopes that there would be a "wet" Christmas. Peace through treaty. His first move was expected than ever before, it seemed.

The administration was anxiously awaiting the world's reaction on the treaty defeat. Government officials said they believed it would be a severe shock to other nations who participated in the peace conference, pointing out that America took the lead throughout and now refuses to accept or participate in any of the arrangements it sets up.

President Wilson himself is known to believe that with the United States standing aloof Europe is liable to be plunged into another war worse than the one just ended, in which this country will again become involved. Those close to him say he regards the league of nations as the only safe guard against this, therefore he is expected to continue his fight for the league of nations.

President Wilson fears that the United States and Germany, being the only two important countries shut out from the league would be thrown together in an entente, and that is the object toward which German propagandists are working.

CAB AND HEPP
SPEEDING UP FOR LINCOLN TUSSLE

Harry Reed, representing the Spalding Sporting Goods house is in the city lining up the schools and Y. M. C. A. for necessary sporting equipment needed by these institutions for the coming year. Mr. Reed is well known among the sportsmen of this state and western Iowa. He has on several occasions acted as official for the Orange and Black football games, among these the Beatrice-Grand Island contest.

Mr. Reed arrived in the city yesterday and was among the spectators at the regular afternoon scrimmage of the Orange and Black first and second teams. His remarks in reference to the Beatrice eleven is that they are a wonderful aggregation of gridiron players.

"Cab" Evis, who won an all-state honor last year and is the main stay on the Orange and Black east wing this season sprung a surprise on the "scrubs" in their scrimmage game with the "regs" by making gain after gain via circling end runs. "Cab's" speed is a new discovery for Coach Garrett. Hepperl is playing the same position on "Cab's" left distinguished himself in like manner, and these two huskies will undoubtedly be used among the main ground gainers against the fast, undefeated Lincoln aggregation when they clash with the locals here on Thanksgiving day for the state championship.

EDITOR OF OMAHA BEE AND PUBLISHING COMPANY EACH
FINED $1,000 FOR CONTEMPT

ARTICLE ATTACKING ARREST OF REPORTER RESULTS IN HEAVY FINES; ROSEWATER DENIES ATTEMPT TO OBSTRUCT JUSTICE

Omaha, Nov. 20.—Editor Victor Rosewater and the Bee Publishing company were fined $1,000 each by District Judge Redick when found guilty of contempt of court as the result of publishing an article dealing with an alleged frame up by police and tampering with grand jury witnesses, which resulted in the indictment of J. Harry Morre, a Bee reporter, alleged to have participated in the riots held here September 28.

Rosewater denied that he had any intention to obstruct justice and said he could not see that exposing corruption in any place would be as obstruction of justice.

Omaha, Neb., Nov. 20.—Victor Rosewater, editor of the Omaha Bee, of the Bee Publishing company, of which Mr. Rosewater is president, Wednesday were found guilty of contempt of court through the publication November 9 of an article headed "Boys Disclose Frameup," in connection with the indictment of John H. Moore, a Bee reporter, on a charge of conspiracy to commit arson during the court house riot of September 28. The decision was rendered by District Judge Redick at 5:45 o'clock, half an hour after the arguments of the attorneys had been completed, bringing an end to the trial which began last Monday.

John H. Moore, the Bee reporter, who was also a defendant in the contempt proceedings, was found not guilty on the ground that there was no evidence to show that he had written the article in question.

Judge Redick in announcing his decision held that the truth or falsity of the article in question was not an issue in the case, but that its publication, whether true or false, tended to obstruct the progress of justice in the trial of the case pending against Moore, the Bee reporter.

The article on which the information was based declared that the indictment of Mr. Moore had been secured through the prepared testimony of Harold Thorpe and Ernest Morris, now serving ninety day jail sentences for conspiracy to commit arson, through the promise of immunity by Police Captain Henry Haze.

FATE OF WAR
TIME DRY LAW
UP TO COURTS

New York, Nov. 20.—The life of war time prohibition was at stake today before the supreme court.

Three cases involving the validity of the law were up for argument. On these decisions depends whether war time prohibition can be enforced.

The vote of wets and dries in the lower courts is virtually a tie, prohibition having been defeated in New York and Chicago while the liquor dealers have been victorious in Louisville and Providence, I.

The ablest of attorneys for both sides met today. Ethel Root will lead the side for the liquor interests assisted by Levi Mayer and William M. Bullitt, noted Chicago lawyers.

WILLARD WANTS TO COME BACK

ASKS RICARD FOR ANOTHER CHANCE AT CHAMPIONSHIP; TRAINING NOW

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
New York, Nov. 20.—Jess Willard hasn't had enough. He wants to "come back" according to Ricard who set the stage for the downfall of the ex-champion last July.

Ricard last night uncovered for scrutiny a small pile of letters and telegrams from Willard and his manager pleading for an early meeting to talk over another match for the heavyweight honor.

Willard did not refer to a match with Dempsey and intimated that he would be willing to fight his way up to another match, convincing Ricard of his sincerity.

"Fred Fulton is coming back and if Willard wants another chance he might arrange a match with him. I do not think I would be willing to stage the bout but I believe it would be a go."

Ricard said the former champion is in training now.
