

SENATE MAY ACT AHEAD OF HOUSE

Likely to Begin Shaping Up Bills Before Military Committee Next Week.

It looks now as if the Senate will get ahead of the House in the consideration of military legislation. While the House Military Committee is dragging along its hearings and no end is in sight, Senator Chamberlain, chairman of the Senate committee, is speeding up and hopes to conclude the hearings so that the final shaping up of the measures before his committee can be begun next week.

Were it not for the fact that the Senate defers to the tradition that permits the House to pass appropriation measures first, the Senate could take up the military problem, which the Senate committee will pass on and dispose of it without waiting for the House.

However, some parts of the military problem, such as the Federal pay bill for the militia, can be disposed of without waiting for the House. This measure is not connected with the army appropriation bill. Indications are that the Senate will not hold back for the House except as concerns legislation that is to accompany the army appropriation bill. Measures independent of the appropriation bill, according to the present outlook, probably will command attention in the Senate first.

TAMPA READY FOR GASPARILLA FETE

Carnival Has Become One of the Most Novel Social Events in the South.

TAMPA, Fla., Jan. 26.—American and Latin residents of this city and section are completing arrangements for holding their annual Gasparilla carnival, which in recent years has developed into the most novel mid-winter social event of the South, and one that draws visitors from many States and a number of foreign countries. The dates of the next carnival are February 4 to 12, and railroads and steamship lines offer reduced rates on all sections in honor of the season of merry-making. In all features the carnival will be more brilliant than those of former years. Novel social functions will be given in tourist hotels and American and foreign clubs, and fully 10,000 people, many in costume, will appear in the varied features, including allegorical and historical pageants and street dancing at night on bay-bordering boulevards.

In addition to the carnival features a sub-tropical fair will be held in the most centrally located exposition grounds in the United States, these being in Tampa's principal residence district and within a three-minute walk from the principal business street. Twenty counties of southern Florida, also the island of Cuba, will be represented in the exhibition departments, and high-class business and running races will be a daily feature. Up-to-date amusement attractions, such as are presented at the leading exhibitions, have been contracted for, but nothing that is even slightly offensive will be allowed in the city.

The carnival derives its name from Don Jose Gasparilla, a Spanish pirate who infested the Gulf coast of Florida more than a century ago, and the scenes presented are inspired by his romantic and tragic life and the experiences of treasure seekers who have for generations made futile efforts to recover vast quantities of gold that Gasparilla's crew is said to have buried on and near Gasparilla Island, now site of the port of Boca Grande. It is held at the height of the tourist season, when thousands are visiting Florida. The Winter Playground of America.

NURSE DESCRIBES WAR EXPERIENCES

Red Cross Workers Caught by Onrushing Armies When Serbia Was Invaded.

The experiences of the Red Cross nurses in Serbia who were caught by the onrushing armies and saw service along the actual battle lines, are described by one of the nurses in a letter that has just been received by the Red Cross Magazine. The nurse says she and her associates had been left as Nish in charge of the hospital for Serbian orphans, but when the armies advanced on Nish they became surgical nurses for the wounded in battle.

They were actually on the firing lines at times, and were called upon to do all sorts of service. She says they were offered an opportunity to retire to the rear, but declined, as they believed it to be their duty to stay with their hospital.

The Red Cross bureau of information announces it has been informed that mail addressed to that part of Poland (the possession of the Central Powers) has been returned marked "No Post."

GIRLS! TRY IT!

HAVE THICK, WAVY, BEAUTIFUL HAIR

Every particle of dandruff disappears and hair stops coming out.

Draw a moist cloth through hair and double its beauty at once.

Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after a "Dandeline hair cleanse." Just try this—moisten a cloth with a little Dandeline and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt and excessive oil and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair.

Besides beautifying the hair at once, Dandeline dissolves every particle of dandruff, cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair.

But what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use when you will actually see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp. If you care for pretty, soft hair and lots of it, surely get a Dandeline bottle of Dandeline's Dandeline from any drug store or toilet counter, and just try it. "Save your hair!" Dandeline it! You will say this was the best 25 cents you ever spent.—Adv.

BRITAIN PLANS TO SAVE THE PEERAGE

"Special Remainders" for Succession on Female Side May Be Created.

LONDON, Jan. 26 (by mail).—A proposal is being considered in the highest quarters to provide against the extinction of British peerages by the operation of the war.

One peer without an heir, Lord Kintore, already has been killed in action and several heirs to peerages, including those of Lord Lincath and Lord Ribblesdale, have fallen, leaving no heirs to succeed them. It is considered possible that steps soon will be taken to create "special remainders" for succession to titles from the female side during the war. At the beginning of 1915 there were 561 hereditary peers in the United Kingdom.

Walter Gilling to Be Given a Hearing Today

Walter Gilling, in the rear of whose home in Twenty-eighth street the police say they found an outfit for counterfeiting small coins, will be given a hearing before United States Commissioner Anson S. Taylor late today.

Gilling, who the police say is a metal worker and electrician, was arrested by Sergeant J. Willard Greene, of the Third precinct, at a moving picture house, where Greene says Gilling had passed spurious coin. Secret Service operatives called into the case, declare they found the counterfeiting tool at Gilling's home yesterday.
