DECLARE FLEET ORDERED SUNK

British Admiralty Finds Proof of Hun Perfidy

LONDON, Dec. 5.—The admiralty has issued a statement denying the German government's claim it was not in communication with Admiral von Reuter at the time he sunk the interned German fleet, which he commanded at Scapa Flow.

The statement, issued by Commander H. B. P. Sinclair, director of naval intelligence, gave extracts from letters which it said were found aboard the German cruiser Emden when she was salvaged. The letters as quoted in the admiralty statement showed plainly that von Reuter had received communications from his government.

Copies of von Reuter's sinking order also were discovered on the Emden, the statement said. One of the communications now in possession of the admiralty is a letter, dated May 9, from the chief of the German admiralty to von Reuter. This letter said the fate of the interned German fleet would be decided at Versailles and that it was "the duty of the German delegates to safeguard the ships and to arrive at a solution in accordance with German traditions and rights. The first condition is that the ships remain German. Their fate will not be decided without our co-operation. Surrender to the enemy is out of the question."

Order Is Quoted
Von Reuter's order for the sinking of the fleet was quoted in the admiralty statement, as follows: "Commanding officers are ordered to make necessary arrangements for the sinking of ships. It should be ensured that each vessel sinks as rapidly as possible after receipt of the order."

The vessels were to be sunk upon personal orders from von Reuter, or in event the British tried to take forcible possession, the statement said. If the German government agreed to turn over the vessels to the allies, then von Reuter said he would do so.

Commodore Sinclair's statement pointed out that German ships arrived at Scapa Flow on June 17. "Curiously enough," he added, "it was on June 17 that von Reuter issued his sinking orders."

Von Reuter still is interned at Donington.

He Was Stickler for Cleanliness, Loses His Jewel

Lozarte Aurelio, guest at the Southern hotel, 194 1/2 First ave. S., is a stickler for cleanliness. Lozarte, likewise, boasts a diamond ring. That is, he did boast of one until Thursday morning, when he went to the bathroom of his hostelry to bathe his face and hands.

Lozarte's ring, which was a whopper and worth $250, was in his way. So he removed the jewelry and placed it on the wash stand. He returned abstractedly to his room, drying his hands while on the way.

Then he discovered his carelessness and hurried back for the ring. It had disappeared.

He sought sleuthful counsel at the police station.

HANDBOOK ASSISTANTS GETTING STRIKE FEVER

NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—The strike virus is affecting the handbook assistants of the Empire city, the aides of betting commissioners who lead the sheep to the shearing. A walk-out of burglars would now seem to be a not impossible event.

The handbook men demand a larger share of the betting commissioners' winnings and a more definite establishment of each commissioner's territory. They have made no demand for shorter hours.

Betting commissioners win 90 per cent of the bets placed with them. The handbook men want a slice of this. The territory in which a commissioner operates has not been definitely fixed, hence many battles between rival firms. The handbook men want the realm of each commissioner surveyed and definitely established. Otherwise, they say, they will strike, and then what will the city do?

WILSON SENDS NAMES OF SIX APPOINTEES

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—The high cost of living has not restricted demand for diamonds, according to records of the United States collector of customs for October. More than $2,000,000 worth of diamonds were imported from Holland by Chicago jewelers by registered mail alone. This broke all previous records here.

The National Council of Women consists in the United States of 31 organizations with approximately 10,000,000 members.

Other nominations sent to the senate were: To be receivers of public moneys: James K. Clark, at Leavenworth, S. D.; William E. McMurry, at Missoula, Mont.

To be registers of land offices: George W. Myers, at Miles City, Mont.; William Reed, Cheyenne, Wyo.; and Ben R. Gray, at Halley, Idaho.

ADAMS ESTATE CUT INTO LOTS

QUINCY, Mass., Dec. 5.—The need for housing is no longer respecting historic sites—an old estate in Quincy, formerly owned by John Quincy Adams, is to be cut into house lots, thus inaugurating a land development scheme which will call eventually for the construction of about 1,000 houses. This is called the Adams estate development, the property involved having been originally owned by the former president and sold by a descendant after being in the family for generations. It contains more than 140 acres of land with two miles frontage on Quincy bay, part of Boston harbor, assessed for $267,000. The proposition involves five miles of new streets with the usual accessories.

LONDON, Dec. 5.—Men of the Welsh Horse and Northumberland Fusiliers are literally "besieging," the doctors say, a nursing home in Beaumont st., London, asking that they be permitted to give their blood to save the life of Col. A. C. Vaughan, their former commander, whose wounds received in France have so drained his system that only blood transfusion will help him.

He needs a quart of fresh blood from two perfectly healthy men.

MOVIE STAR "SCARED" BY OPPOSING COUNSEL

NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—Mary Pickford at the trial of Mrs. Cora C. Wilkenson's suit for $108,000 delighted the movie fans who thronged Justice Plazek's courtroom. She smiled at the jurors, and told the opposing counsel, "I'm scared of you."

In support of her contention that Mrs. Wilkenson did not represent her she remembered many flattering offers besides the contracts which gave her a million-dollar income.

SAGE TEA TURNS GRAY HAIR DARK

It's Grandmother's recipe to bring color, luster and youthfulness to hair when faded, streaked or gray.

That beautiful, even shade of dark, glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray or streaked, just an application or two of Sage and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundredfold.

Don't bother to prepare the mixture; you can get this famous old recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients at a small cost, all ready for use. It is called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color and luster of your hair.

Everybody uses "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair has disappeared, and after another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy and lustrous.
